Democrats Back Of Eisenhower, Reece Charges

BOSTON—(AP)—Former Republican national chairman Carroll Reece says the Truman administration is "spending huge sums to promote (Gen. Dwight D.) Eisenhower—because they figure Eisenhower is the Democrats' best bet."

Reece, Republican representative from Tennessee, made his charge at a news conference last night. He came here to speak at a Milton rally for Sen. Robert A. Taft for the Republican Presidential nomination.

Propaganda Turned On

"Every slightest development in the Eisenhower camp is emphasized in extravagant language by a propaganda apparatus aided by the Democratic administration," he said.

"Every passport applicant receives a portrait of the general and the eulogy of his program with his passport.

"Timed right for the campaign, the postoffice put out a commemorative stamp of the general.

"But the Defense Department is doing most to help. They have arranged for the general's aide, Gen. (Alfred M.) Gruenther (Eisenhower's chief of staff), to tour the country to whip up support for the Eisenhower campaign.

"I am reliably informed Gen. Gruenther's current speaking tour to key cities was arranged with a dual mission: (1) A public relations and sales job to build up support for his boss, Gen. Eisenhower; (2) A contact job around the country to generate a "spontaneous' march on the Republican convention in July."

"Blurbs" Investigated

Reese later told a reporter he had taken up with Secretary of State Acheson the matter of including what he called "a blurb about Eisenhower" with passports. They justified it as a means of promoting good will for the NATO (North Atlantic Treaty Organization) project," he said.

Reese said the distribution of the "blurbs" with passports "has been going on for some time—for six weeks anyway."

He said he had been told a stamp is "in process" which would "commemorate the activities of NATO—but using Eisenhower's picture as a symbol.

"My information is the stamp would be released in time for the conventions but this may kill it off," Reece said.

Big Steel Owners Sue To Get Mills Back From Government

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The steel industry asked the federal courts again today to deny President Truman the right to seize the nation's steel mills.

An attorney for U. S. Steel Corp., biggest of the steel companies, accused the government of trying to "foist on management" wage increases for the CIO Steelworkers Union.

The attorney, Theodor Kiendl, said the government is not "trying to preserve production of steel."

Damage Anticipated

He asked U. S. District Judge David A. Pine to issue a temporary injunction that would forbid Secretary of Commerce Sawyer from taking any steps to carry out Truman's seizure order.

Kiendl told the court the damage would be "almost incalculable" if Sawyer puts into effect the wage and union shop recommendations made by the Wage Stabilization Board.

In the industry's first court attempt to declare the seizure illegal, Judge Alexander Holtzoff said there had been no showing of "irreparable damage."

Sawyer has said the government intends to put into force some wage boosts for the steelworkers. He hasn't said how much.

Meanwhile, a series of Congressional studies of the seizure picture were going on on Capitol Hill. Three Senate committees were examining the situation, and an impeachment move against Truman was on in the House.

Pay Raise Coming

President Truman told a news conference today he seized the steel industry because this country is in the midst of the greatest emergency it has ever had.

He was not questioned as to what wage increase might be recommended for the steel workers.

The government yesterday took a first step toward granting the industry a $3 price increase in a ton of steel.

The union membership totals about 650,000. CIO chieftain Philip Murray called off his threatened strike after the steel mills were seized April 1.

The U. S. Chamber of Commerce, declaring Truman violated three separate articles of the constitution in seizing the steel plants, said the President may be "Commander-in-Chief," but this means command of the Armed Forces—"not the command of the people of the United States."

"If that were not true," said the Chamber in testimony prepared for a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee, "then the President could become a dictator overnight and every American, from the cradle to the grave, could be made to goose step."

The Truman administration was taking its time about ordering pay raises in the seized industry. The latest word was that this won't come until next week.

Convict Demands Met To Save 9 Guard Hostages

By ARTHUR W. EVERETT

JACKSON, Mich.— (AP) —Tense and tired Southern Michigan prison convicts agreed today to end their riotous five-day revolt, but several hours later were reported still battling among themselves.

A tough young prisoner who bolted the convict stronghold cell block 15 as a hostage guard was released reported fist-fighting and kicking among nearly 200 inmates left inside.

Steak Dinner Included

Kenneth Moore, 26, also told prison officials of a verbal battle over leadership of the insurrection still going on between the convicts' two top men—Earl Ward and "Crazy Jack" Hyatt.

But he said last night's report of a major clash between the two was "just a publicity gag" and Ward still held the upper hand.

The information from inside the forbidding brick building assured Warden Julian Frisbie that eight hostage guards still were safe.

It was to get the guards out of the power of the knife-wielding rioters that Governor G. Mennen Williams and prison heads gave in early today to the prisoners' reform demands—and threw in a steak dinner besides.

One Man Collapses

Moore told Frisbie the surrender ending the mutiny that cost $2,000,000 and the life of one prisoner "will come by Friday noon and could come anytime."

Moore dashed from the cell block with his hands in the air as the big steel doors swung open to free 34-year-old guard James Akins, in a state of nervous collapse after long days as a hostage.

Akins was borne on a stretcher to the prison hospital, then sent home with his wife, Lillian.

Convict Ward, who held the door open so Akins could be helped out, sent word to officials that another guard was ill with a gall bladder condition. He said the prisoners would not free hostage Cecil Lawrence, but asked that medicine for him be sent in.

Copies of morning newspapers carrying accounts of the agreement were passed into the cellblock early today, and an hour later there had been no reaction from the convicts.

Silence Good Sign

Lack of any protest was regard by Frisbie as "a good sign." Actual surrender of the firm, five-tiered cellblock with its solitary confinement holes was not expected before Friday morning.

Governor Williams gave in to the mutineers' demands, he said, "to effect the release of the hostages and the cessation of resistance."

Williams Vetoes Bill To Revise 1907 Constitution

LANSING—(AP)—A plan to seek revision of Michigan's 1907 state constitution was vetoed yesterday by Governor Williams.

Conceding the constitution is antiquated and needs revision, Williams said this is not the time or way to do it.

The vetoed bill would have asked the people to vote next November whether a constitutional convention should be elected to rewrite the constitution. The people later would have been asked to elect the convention delegates and still later to approve the new document.

Williams raised the same objections as legislative Democrats that the constitutional convention would be chosen from the present senatorial districts. Democrats claim those are unfairly divided.

"If the legislature wishes to see the constitution revised," Williams said, "let it first conform to the present constitution and reapportion its seats as prescribed therein. When that is done, I, for one, will have no objection to a constitutional convention if the people want one."

"If the constitutional revision is ultimately desirable," Williams said, 1952 is not the year to do it.

The necessity for obtaining a majority of all the people voting in the election is an impossible hurdle in an election year, he said.

The governor contended the constitutional convention should not be asked to solve fiscal problems which the legislature has failed to solve.

Mental Test Rejects Recalled By Draft Boards In Michigan.

LANSING—(AP)—Col. Arthur A. Holmes, acting state selective service director, today sent instructions to draft boards to send 490 men who failed the draft mental test for reexamination in May.

Wayne county boards were exempted from the call.

Since January, 1,048 who failed the test originally have been reexamined, and 27 per cent were accepted, Holmes said.

The number to be called for reexamination by Upper Peninsula boards:

Baraga 3, Chippewa 6, Delta 6, Dickinson 3, Gogebic 3, Luce 2, Mackinac 2, Marquette 5, Menominee 6, Schoolcraft 2.

Army Loses Battle With Mad Missouri At Ft. Leavenworth

By LARRY HALL

KANSAS CITY — (AP) — The Army lost a heart breaking battle against the swirling Missouri River at Sherman Air Force field near old Fort Leavenworth last night.

For ten days troops, aided at times by civilians, fought the river, raising the dikes ahead of the surging water. Then the river levelled off at its record crest. It looked like the worst was over.

Dike Breaks Open

But shortly after 8 o'clock last night the Missouri pounded a hole in a dike at the southeast corner of the field. It widened rapidly and in 48 minutes a 10½ foot wall of water had swept over the $3,500,000 field.

Only about 75 men were on the dikes at the time. All got out safely. Airplanes and other equipment had been removed days ago.

The installation is the landing field for historic Fort Leavenworth, home of the Army's command and general staff school. It is not a major air base.

As the wild Missouri's crest moved on toward Kansas City, Army engineers gave assurances Kansas City can take it this time. They said their experienced flood fighters were ready for any emergency.

Below 1951 Crest

The note of optimism came from Col. L. J Lincoln as a crest of around 31 feet bore down on the Kansas City, Kas., and Kansas City, Mo., areas. That level—expected late today—is some ten feet less than the dikes were built to stand.

And it is far less than the devastating 36.2 crest that came roaring out of the Kaw (Kansas) River to spread destruction in the rich industrial lowlands last year.

Upstream, this 1952 flood from melting Dakota snow has been a record deluge. At Kansas City and on to the mouth near St. Louis, it won't equal the records set in the 1951 disaster, by present reckoning.

Refunds Slowed On Income Tax

WASHINGTON—(AP)—If you haven't received your income tax refund this year, you have plenty of company.

The government is running about three million checks behind last year in disgorging its annual golden flood of taxes in reverse.

Treasury officials told a reporter today the Revenue Bureau is giving refund requests a closer scrutiny than usual this year, thus causing a lag.

But don't worry too much—the rate of output is stepping up rapidly. Paul Banning, chief disbursing officer for the Treasury, estimated about eight million checks will be mailed in April and nine million in May.

From the start of the fiscal year last July 1 through April 17, the treasury dropped 16,200,000 refund checks into the mail. During the same period last year, it sent out 18,900,000 individual income tax refunds.

The average refund is bigger this year—$60.72 compared with $50.58 last year. The dollar total through April 17 this year was 983,000,000 compared with 945,000,000 at the same point last year.

Officials expect this pattern to continue for the year as a whole—fewer but bigger refund checks. They estimate taxpayers will get back from the government 30,250,000 checks this year totalling $2,100,000,000. Last year, the government paid out 31,000,000 checks totaling two billion dollars.

Prowlers Scare Coeds In MSC Dormitories

EAST LANSING— (AP) —College police stepped up their patrols of Michigan State dormitories today following two recent reports of prowlers entering to annoy coeds.

Donald Wilbur, 23, of Lake Lansing, was sentenced to 20 days in county jail for illegal entry at the college. Police said Wilbur entered a women's dormitory and spent two hours alternately talking and forcing a coed to "neck" with him.

When he left, Wilbur took along a teddy bear the girl had in her room, police said.

Another coed, living in an East Lansing women's cooperative dormitory, reported she woke up to find a man sitting on the edge of her bed.

The prowler disappeared out the window when she screamed and ran from the room, the coed said.

New Break Hinted In Korean Deadlock

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

MUNSAN, Korea— (AP) —Truce negotiators twice recessed secret talks today, indicating they were studying a new proposal to break the deadlock on how to exchange prisoners of war.

Before the session began Communist newsmen spread the word that a new development was in the offing. They gave no hint as to what it might be. Their remarks suggested, however, that the Reds had a new plan for ending the stalemate.

In the past, recesses have been called to study new proposals for settling disputes.

Thursday the staff officers recessed first for 15 minutes; then, 25 minutes later, each group met separately for an hour and a quarter.

As usual there was no official announcement of what happened at the 67 minute meeting. By agreement no news has been released on what happened in prisoner exchange talks for a month.

There has been no report as to whether progress has been made toward settling the key issues—voluntary repatriation. The Reds want all prisoners returned. The U. N. command says it will repatriate no one against his will.

The indications of a new development followed reports from both Washington and Peiping expressing pessimism over the chances of reaching an armistice.

Blossoms Burst On Korea Front

SEOUL, Korea—(AP)—Nine Reds were killed in the biggest fight reported today on the Korean battlefronts.

Warm sunny weather brought a burst of blossoms along the quiet front. Korea's purple friendflower, the chingdallay, vied the yellow forsythia.

Most troops took it easy. But some had to battle occasional light Communist patrols on probing attacks.

Air Force, Navy and Marine planes ganged up on Communist rail lines Wednesday. They reported cutting tracks at 29 points.

Although the ground front was quiet, U. S. warships continued their bombardment of Red coastal positions in eastern Korea.

Soviet Expert Dies

MOSCOW—(AP)—The death of Nicolai Chizhevsky, 80, a specialist in the chemistry of coal and metals, was reported today. He designed the Soviet Union's coke oven system and his researches helped expand raw material resources for the metallurgical industries.

British Cabinet Favors June 2 For Coronation

LONDON—(AP)—The Daily Express reported today that the British Cabinet has advised Queen Elizabeth II that June 2, 1953, would be a suitable day for her coronation.

A Buckingham Palace spokesman said that no decision has been made, and that at this stage "nothing can be confirmed."

The first week in June is normally the most active in Britain's social calendar.

Combat Airmen Seek More Pay

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The glamor of combat flying has worn so thin in two wars that some top military people believe a new system of "incentive pay" is the only sure way to attract more youths into America's growing Air Force.

Such a pay-proposal is knocking around the Air Force's top command. It is expected to emerge soon as a specific plan to be laid before Congress. It is certain to run into trouble there.

The combat pay bill — calling for an extra $45 a month for most Korean war veterans—was snagged today in a Senate-House conference committee trying to agree on differences in bills passed by the two bodies.

During the last war, flyers received a $500 bonus plus 50 per cent of their base pay as compensation for the added hazards of flying.

Since the war, Congress has trimmed the flight pay. Lieutenants now receive about 45 per cent of base pay and the scale slides downward to about 15 per cent for flying generals.

At present, the average pilot is a man with seven years of flying experience. He has the rank of captain. With all his pay and allowances, he draws about $595 a month.

Truman Says He Told Stalin Off

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman said today he once forced Premier Stalin to move out of Iran by sending him an ultimatum.

The President also told a news conference that there was a time when Yugoslavia decided to take Trieste, but that he ordered the Mediterranean fleet into that area and there was no march on Trieste.

Truman spoke of these incidents in discussing his powers generally and specifically his seizure of the steel industry.

Coming down to more recent events, the President said there has been what he called a lot of hooey about seizure of the press and radio as a result of his last newsconference.

On last Thursday, Truman was asked this question:

"Mr. President, if you can seize the steel mills under your inherent powers, can you, in your opinion, also seize the newspapers or/and the radio stations?"

The President replied that under similar circumstances, the President of the United States has to act for whatever is for the best of the country. That's the answer to your question, he added.

Street Blocked Off At Westville, N. J., To Control Meningitis

WESTVILLE, N. J.—(AP)—Special police isolated 30 families and blocked off an entire street of this southern Jersey community with a quarantine road barricade after an illness in the area was diagnosed as a case of spotted fever meningitis.

Stricken with a mysterious illness last Sunday, a year-old Charlotte McGuinness was admitted to Camden County Hospital in a critical condition, according to Dr. I. N. Patterson, a school doctor.

Westville police were ordered by the New Jersey Health Department to block off Timber Ave. About 30 children were taken from school, examined and treated with preventive drugs.

Alibi Of Handyman Checked In Brutal Stabbing Of Widow

MARINE CITY, Mich.—(AP)—Police were checking the alibi story of a neighbor's handyman today as they sought further clues today in the vicious stab-slaying of 73-year-old Mrs. Mabel Foster.

The elderly widow, her body slashed by 14 stab wounds, was found Tuesday in her home near Cherry Beach two miles from Marine City.

Held for investigation was Aaron Jones, butler and handyman employed by General Motors Vice-President Harry J. Klinger whose summer home adjoins Mrs. Foster's.

Police said Jones surrendered yesterday after learning he was wanted for questioning. Officers said he gave a detailed account of his actions from Sunday noon until sometime after the slaying which police believe occurred late Monday night.

Police said fingerprints found at the muder scene were not Jones' and a preliminary check indicated his story was true. However, he was held for further questioning while detectives questioned persons with whom he said he had spent his time.

Mrs. Foster, widow of a Marine City druggist, was slain as she prepared for bed. It was believed her assailant, bent on robbery, entered her home through a window and battered down the bedroom door where Mrs. Foster apparently took refuge on hearing the prowler.

The woman put up a struggle but was knocked to the floor, then stabbed. Four or perhaps five of the 14 knife wounds were made after death, a coroner's report said.

Two purses in the room had been ransacked of all but $5. Exact amount stolen was not known.

Bill To Abolish RFC Defeated

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Reconstruction Finance Corporation was sentenced to death in the Senate yesterday and then promptly reprieved.

A bill to abolish the big government lending agency, offered by Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) but supported mostly by Republicans, was accepted on the first go around 42 to 37, to the astonishment of the Democratic leadership.

Allowed another chance under parliamentary rules, the administration scrambled frantically for votes and finally was able to switch enough Senators to send the measure back to the banking committee, 39 to 36.

The committee was instructed to bring the RFC measure back to the Senate by June 2, but some of its backers said this was meaningless because Congress would be in the last weeks of its session by that time and tied up with other business. These Senators said the measure was dead this session.

Opponents of the Byrd bill had predicted in debate that the House would not pass it and that President Truman would veto it in any case.

Exiled To Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile—(AP)—Chile's capital today is home in exile to Gen. Hugo Ballivian, Bolivia's ousted government chief. He arrived by plane yesterday from La Paz, where he had taken refuge in the Chilean embassy after the National Revolutionary party overthrew his 11-month-old military regime in a bloody revolt two weeks ago.

Governor Plays Politics With Michigan Prison Problems, Says Senator

LANSING— (AP) —A Republican Senate leader has blasted Governor Williams' plan to ask the Osborne Association to discover the causes of the riot at Southern Michigan prison.

Senator G. Elwood Bonine (R-Vandalia) charged that "every time something goes wrong in the State of Michigan he (Williams) attempts to avoid his administrative responsibility by blaming the Legislature."

Williams said yesterday he had invited the association, nationally-known penological organization, to survey the riot situation and added he would submit certain facts to the investigators.

False Facts Given

"I cannot accept an investigation," Bonine said, "proceeding from any point which the governor sets because his so-called facts are incorrect and political in nature. His views are not necessarily facts. We have had the Osborne Association in before, investigating the prison system.

"I think we need a thorough and complete investigation by the attorney general's office such as the inquiry of 1945 which produced results."

Meanwhile, Attorney General Frank G. Millard said he had invited the Jackson county prosecutor to assign as assistant to the probe he plans as soon as order is restored in the big prison.

Bonine attacked Williams' charge that the Legislature had

Food Retailers Have Good Case For Changes In OPS Regulations

THE nation's organized food retailers are vigorously protesting many of the OPS policies and regulations and anyone who takes the trouble to examine the complaints must concede that the food retailers have some compelling arguments.

Although the food retailing industry has changed considerably in the last 10 years to the improvement of merchandising for the customer and working conditions for the employes, the industry now finds itself caught in a vise by 10-year-old OPS controls carried over from OPA days.

The food industry has shown that the old OPA margins used by OPS in its ceiling price regulations for retail foods are inadequate by 3% and that common business practices were changed by OPS regulations, the changes not being in the public interest. OPS promised more than a year ago to make an immediate survey and to correct any of the old OPA control system not adequate for today's condition. That survey still has not been made.

The OPS "guessed" that smaller margins would yield satisfactory earnings because of higher volume. The profit figures have not borne out these guesses. The net operating profit of 30 leading food chains for the last six months of 1950 was 3.39%. In 1951, it was only 1.62%. Profit after federal taxes in 1950 was 1.97% and in 1951 only .80%. For the last 18 years, net profits after taxes averaged 1.4%.

Under the OPA when food was scarce and rationed, all foods sold at ceiling prices. That is not true today. In fact, from 25% to more than 50%, depending upon class and area, of food items are selling below ceiling prices. The industry has asked that all food products that are in ample supply—and these include all foods on the cost of living index—be suspended from price controls, with provisions for re-controls when and if they become necessary.

The industry also has asked that food retailers be allowed the profit margins in effect before the Korean war as provided in the Herlong amendment and enacted by Congress. OPS has denied this right to food retailers although authorizing it for other lines of business.

The requests of the food retailers are not unreasonable, particularly in view of the fact that food retailing is undoubtedly the most highly competitive business in the nation. This keen competition is sufficient to protect the customers' interest, particularly with foods in abundant supply.

Congress Should Reject Fair Trade Laws

CONGRESS is expected to begin action soon on the so-called "fair trade" legislation.

The Supreme Court last year knocked out the Fair Trade Act. This act had the effect of excluding from liability to the anti-trust laws those retail stores which agreed to sell certain goods at prices fixed by the manufacturers.

In the action it takes on legislative measures now before it, the House of Representatives, which will be the first of the two branches of Congress to act, can either over-ride the court or stand by its decision.

Speaking solely in the interests of the country's 150 million consumers, it would certainly appear that Congress in this case can best serve the people by taking no action at all. In other words, by letting stand the decision of the Supreme Court.

Among the principal commodities whose prices are fixed by fair trade laws are some, but not all, liquors, drugs, electrical appliances, cosmetics, sports equipment and clothing. Fair trade laws are in effect in 45 states.

What the fair trade laws mean in the way of higher prices is indicated in a survey taken a few years ago by Fortune Magazine. Summarized, the survey showed:

"1. A comparison of 117 branded drug items showed that 35 cost about one-third less in Washington, D. C., which has no fair trade law, than in Maryland, where resale price maintenance is legal; 38 cost about one-quarter less, and 29 cost one-seventh less.

"2. Fifty-four trade drug items cost an average of 16.2 per cent more on the east bank of the Mississippi (Illinois), where fair trade is legal, than on the St. Louis side (Missouri), where it is not."

Q. Forrest Walker, economist for Macy's department store in New York, for years a leader in the fight against fair trade laws, testified before a congressional committee in February:

"Private price-fixing invariably and inevitably works against consumers. Public policy requires the protection of millions of consumers, not the self-interest of a handful of manufacturers and retailers."

The late Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, of the Supreme Court, stated in connection with the case of the Dr. Miles Medical Company:

"The complainant having sold its product at prices satisfactory to itself, the public is entitled to whatever advantages may be derived from competition in the subsequent traffic."

In other words, Chief Justice Hughes was backing up the opinion of many an American that since our economy is based on the competitive, free-enterprise system, let's allow that system to function unfettered by restrictions favoring a few.

Congress has legislated to insure healthful competition among manufacturers. Let it act now to insure the same kind of competition among retail stores, with the consequent price benefits to consumers.

NURSE SCHOLARSHIPS
(Marinette Eagle-Star)

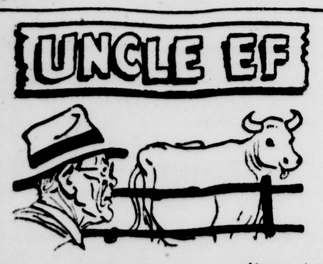

Perhaps one of the most worthy undertakings announced here in recent weeks is the $300 scholarship offered by the Twin City Registered Nurses' Club. The scholarship will go to a girl in the twin county area who best meets the qualifications to take up a course to become a registered nurse.

It should be an inducement to some girl who otherwise might be unable to take up nurses' training, since it has been emphasized that the scholarship will be a gift and not a loan.

A shortage of registered nurses has prevailed for years and has been made all the more acute by the demands of the armed forces for nurses. Any legitimate means of inducing young women to take up the study of nursing is a service to the community and nation.

It should be said that scholarships for nurse candidates are not new in this area. The Peshtigo Women's club has been offering a $100 scholarship annually for several years to a girl graduate of Peshtigo high school who desires to take up nursing as a career. It has had the desired effect of steering girls to nursing as careers.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

PARIS — Biggest international guessing game on this side of the Atlantic—now that Ike has announced his date of departure—is predicting who will replace him.

Hazards of the game are increased by the fact that the Joint Chiefs of Staff and Eisenhower are at odds over the successor, Ike wanting his close friend, Gen. Al Gruenther, and Gen. Omar Bradley favoring Gen. Matthew Ridgway.

"Uncle Omar," as he is affectionately called in the Army, got a little peeved during the Lisbon conference when Ike did not come there himself but sent Gruenther—for the obvious purpose of letting the other nations get better acquainted with him and breaking Al in at the job.

Uncle Omar's private reaction was: "Ike ain't no king-maker." And he proceeded to get his back up and root harder than ever for Ridgway.

Pros and cons of the dispute are:

1. The Europeans like Gruenther, feel tnat he understands their problems; also consider Ridgway too much of a fighting man, that his name is linked with a most unpopular war, that even his paratrooper insignia and the hand grenade on his blouse link him—distastefully—with war. And few Americans appreciate how little Europe wants war.

2. The Joint Chiefs in Washington consider Gruenther too young, and handicapped by lack of combat experiences; that Ridgway has shown great leadership not only in battle, but in handling Japanese political problems. They believe Europe needs his dynamic, energetic personality.

Compromise now being discussed is to appoint colorful Field Marshal Montgomery of England as Ike's immediate successor. This would please the British. Then, after the end of the Korean war, Ridgway would replace him.

BY TRANS-ATLANTIC PIPELINE

When President Truman cruised down the Potomac last weekend, he took two significant visitors along—Oscar Ewing, federal security administrator, and Clark Clifford, former White House counsel, now counsel for Phillips Petroleum and chief booster for its friend, Sen. Bob Kerr of Oklahoma. . . Behind this was the new Truman strategy of grooming Ewing as the Democratic nominee, with either Senator Kerr or Senator Russell running for vice president. . . Ewing, a true-and-trusted New Dealer, is hated by the medical profession, loved by labor and minority groups. . . Paradoxically he's in the position of having been counsel for the powerful, conservative, pro-Republican Aluminum Corporation of America; also was the law partner of Charles Evans Hughes Jr. . . Truman thinks that, despite Ewing's crusade for compulsory medical insurance and the opposition of the doctors, he would make a great campaigner. In fact, the President has told friends he personally would make some special speeches attacking the American Medical Association in Ewing's behalf.

ALONG THE BOULEVARDS

There's almost as much interest in the U. S. elections among the French as among Americans. That's partly because one of the main candidates is right here on their doorstep; also because on the outcome of the November elections depends the future defense and peace of Europe. . . Europeans make no secret of their belief that if Taft is elected they might as well fold up the North Atlantic pact. . . Regardless of the usual sniping at Uncle Sam, there's a great deal of genuine friendship for the American people among the French. The Commies have done their best to kill it, but they can't. For instance, there is much interest in the Missouri flood and sympathy for its victims. Frenchmen find it hard to realize that the area flooded is one-half the size of France! . . Andre Picard, who helped organize the French gratitude train, generously wanted to start a drive among the French people to help the Missouri flood victims.

CANCELED APPOINTMENT

I had an appointment with De Gaulle for an interview but did not keep it. After the time was set for 5:30 p. m., he sent one of his aides around to explain that the interview must be off the record. I explained that I was not much interested in an off-the-record interview, but the aide phoned back later to say that "mon general" was adamant. In that case, I replied, I was not interested in seeing the general. That, I presumed, ended the matter. But at 5:45 De Gaulle's headquarters called complaining that I was late, that the interview was set for 5:30. "You have misunderstood," I replied. "The interview is canceled. I am not coming to see the general.". . It was FDR who described De Gaulle as fancying himself a "cross between Joan of Arc and Clemenceau." Many Frenchmen still remember that description.

America,s 22 Million Canines Make It Doggone Big Business

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Life, for America's dogs, is going to the people. Being a canine these days is a fine career for an animal—good food, pleasant hours, the work is easy and you pay no taxes.

Take the Dog Bath Club, which is like a lot of toney dog beauty parlors across the country. Here Fido gets his coat trimmed, his nails clipped, his tail bobbed and his whole doggy self bathed—in cocoanut oil shampoo, yet. A bath costs $3.50 to $4.50, depending on how hairy a dog you bring with you.

The club, water shortage permitting, will reopen its outdoor dog swimming pool this Summer. It's been quite a strain on the Park Avenue pooches, going without their dip these last two Summers.

The club's receptionist, who sits in the softly-lit waiting room surrounded by a fancy, modern decor, says that some people spend as much as $200 a year in beautifying their beasts. That's after the 10 per cent discount they get as club members, for a $10 bill a year.

• • •

Don't get the idea that only rich dogs lead such a heady life. The Dog Bath Club draws as much from dingy Third Avenue as from glittering Park. Little children save up their pennies until they can have their pets prettied up and cocoanut-oil-shampooed.

Beauty parlors are only one small part of the blooming dog industry. It's roughly estimated that several hundred million dollars a year are spent by kind masters on their tail-wagging friends.

The latest figure on America's dog population—and any dog census is probably an underestimate—is 22,000,000. That's 200 per cent more than 30 years ago; in that same span, human beings in America increased only 50 per cent.

That means 22,000,000 consumers for dog products. Every dog has to eat, so dog food is the Great Dane among dog industries. And there are leashes, medicines, rubber bones, training schools and on down the line to the odds and ends like prefabricated dog houses and dog cemeteries.

PERMANENT FOR A POOCH is one of the items that makes America's dogs big business. The scene's inside a canine beauty parlor.

PERKY HAIRDO on this terrier shows heady life dogs lead.

• • •

Although there are thousands of dogs who manage to struggle along on table scraps, the vast majority of canines get their meals out of a can or carton. About a billion pounds of canned dog food — well fortified with things like cod liver oil and mixed vitamins—were sold in 1951. Add to that another third of a billion pounds of dry food and you've got a lot of chow chow.

That's besides the uncounted pounds of meat bought at the butcher for the dogs, and the tidbits — like a dog candy called "Yummies" which go into hungry canine mouths.

Besides looking beautiful and eating well, dogs lately have begun smelling nicer, too. About a half-dozen of the leading dog food makers have taken to adding a dash of chlorophyll to their product, de-smelling the nation's pooches in the process.

From the time they're sold to their masters (at prices from a few dollars to a couple of thousand for a prize specimen) until they're buried (in a public incinerator of a $100 vault in a dog cemetery), dogs mean dollars to the nation's businessmen.

There are smaller businesses, like boarding and breeding kennels and veterinaries, and bigger businesses, like the dog food companies. In between are such enterprises as the American Kennel Club, which keeps track of the uppercrust dogs, the bow-wow 400.

• • •

As of the end of 1951, there were 3,428,384 pedigreed dogs registered by the AKC. About 22,000 new ones are taken in each month. In case you're interested, the five most popular breeds at the moment, according to AKC records, are cockers, beagles, boxers, collies and dachshunds, in that order.

Add to all these such leftovers as dog magazines, clothing, showing, photographing and toys and you get the general idea—the dog may be man's best friend, but he's also his most expensive.

COMPETITION—There are so many demands upon people's time these days that many organizations find they are losing memberships fast. Included among these organizations are those with a long history of beneficial service to their members and the community..

This condition of affairs was explored recently by Atty. William Anderson of Escanaba in a talk to the Odd Fellow Lodge of Escanaba. He pointed out that organizations across the nation are meeting stiff competition for the attention of their members.

For several reasons people are spending more time at home, lured in part by the flickering shadows on a TV screen in larger communities, the speaker said.

It has been our observation that folks are spending more time at home to do their own painting and paper hanging, and to pursue hobbies such as woodworking and gardening. Certainly there are few people who prefer to stay home and listen to the radio and the blessings of TV have not yet been showered upon the Upper Peninsula region.

• • •

THE GENEROUS JUDGE — Speakers usually have at least a couple stories to tell their audience, and Atty. Anderson was no exception.

In granting a divorce decree, the speaker told the Odd Fellow members and their wives, the judge lectured the wayward husband and said sternly:

"Your wife will be granted a divorce and I have decided to give her $50 a month alimony. What do you think of that?"

Well, Judge," replied the husband, "I think that's fine—and I'll see if I can't chip in a couple bucks myself once in awhile"

• • •

DEMANDS TIME—Getting back to the subject,which is the declining membership strength of many organizations, it should be pointed out that in these days people have increasing demands upon their time.

People are expected to be active in their church, to participate in civic affairs, join in assisting with a growing number of charitable and benefit fund drives, and stay home and be good parents to their children.

These people are the kind who belong to organizations and try to be faithful members, so far as the demands upon their time permit.

• • •

MEETING THE CHALLENGE—This is a challenge to all of the organizations to compete more zealously than ever for the attention of its members. In doing this they take up still more time.

How to meet a challenge was illustrated in another story told by Atty. Anderson.

Two men riding on a train were discussing whether they should go to Minneapolis or Saint Paul.

"I don't want to go to Minneapolis," said the first man. "Too many Swedes there."

"I guess Saint Paul is out, too," observed the second traveler. "Too many Swedes."

An elderly Swedish lady sat nearby and overheard their comments. She spoke to them in gentle reproof.

"Excuse me, gentlemen," she said with pronounced Swedish accent, "but if you are looking for a place where there are no Swedes—why don't you go to hell?"

• • •

NO SOLUTION—It is obviously impossible to dispose of a problem by telling people what they should or should not do. They do as they please.

So it is with the multitudinous organizations in America. They will keep right on being organizations until lack of membership ends their existence.

Millions of members and their families have been benefitted by fraternal, civic, and social organizations. Most of these organizations were formed in a slower and less complex period of American history. Perhaps changing conditions will end the need for fellowship and service upon which they are based.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

"SUITS" AND "RECEIPTS"

A reader complains that she has heard "suit" used so often for a set of furniture and "receipt" for instructions for cooking that she now isn't sure herself whether they are right or not.

As to "suite" versus "suite," the fact is that one may with equal propriety use one or the other, when referring to a matching set of furniture or the like. Both words carry the same meaning and had the same origin. "Suit" is much the older, coming into the language at the time of the Norman invasion, or shortly thereafter, and was used for a set or group of anything—tools, dinner services, furniture, similar cards in a deck, the livery worn by one's servants, men's and boy's outer garments, a set of garments worn by women, a set of armor, a person's company of attendants; almost anything, in fact, ordinarily considered to be a group or set was a "suit."

The French word "suite" and its pronunciation (sweet) entered the language only about three centuries ago. It was first a court word, used for a train of attendants, and it was only about a hundred years ago that it was applied to a set of furniture. Consequently, it is the more fashionable word for this meaning.

Almost the same general remarks could be repeated for "receipt" (ri-SEET) and "recipe" (RESS-i-pi). Both came originally from the Latin "recipio," to take or to receive. "Receipt" is the older form in our language, coming through French, and it was originally applied to a medical formula or prescription, from which it came also to be used in cookery, and has been so used for more than four hundred years.

The form "recipe" is straight Latin. It dates back to the time, about 1400, when medical instructions were altogether written in Latin, and its meaning is the simple direction, "Take!" Its old initial is the curious-looking capital letter "R" that still appears on a doctor's prescription. But as directions for the preparation of a dish in cookery, "recipe" is comparatively modern; that is, about two hundred years old. It too is now the more fashionable term.

The average person's troubles are chiefly imaginary—the kind hardest to cure.

Infected Tonsils and Adenoids Cause Most Hearing Troubles

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

The ability to hear well is a precious quality which must be preserved if at all possible, and if not, which must be relieved to the greatest possible degree. In recognition of this, National Hearing Week will be observed this year from May 4 to 10, and several columns will therefore be devoted to the problem of better hearing

Hearing difficulties are not rare; it is said that one person out of ten needs some kind of hearing help, but it is encouraging that so much is being done to prevent difficulty and to aid those who do have some hearing troubles.

An interesting report on a conservation of hearing program for school children comes from Hartford County, Maryland. During the three-year period of a survey, 70 per cent of the children in the county's schools were screened for hearing defects.

About one child out of seven, among the 7000 tested, failed to have perfect hearing as shown by the original test and was referred for further study.

Out of the 1118 youngsters who failed the original test, 712 showed a certain type of hearing defect called chronic conduction deafness, which was nearly always associated with chronic or acute infections of the upper breathing tract—most commonly, infected tonsils and adenoids.

One hundred-ninety children had their tonsils and adenoids removed, though this number was only about one-third of those for whom it had been recommended.

Of those for whom this procedure was done, about seven out of 10 showed definite improvement in hearing. Only about three out of 10 of those for whom it was recommended, but was not done, showed any hearing improvement.

NO NEED TO WAIT

The degree of hearing improvement was about the same in older and in younger children. So there seems to be no reason for waiting to have the tonsils and adenoids removed to conserve hearing, if removal is otherwise indicated, merely because a child is older. In other words, the operation should not be postponed merely in the hope of improvement.

This experience is only one of several attempts to conserve hearing. It is, of course, better to save good hearing than to try to treat it once it has gone bad, and therefore, efforts to do this should be encouraged.

In closing this column, I should like to mention the fact that the American Hearing Society (817 14th St., N. W., Washington 5, D. C.) is a national headquarters for information relating to hearing. The Volta Bureau (1537 35th St., N. W., Washington 7, D. C.) also distributes pamphlets on this subject

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Kuibyshev, Russia—The official Russian spokesman declared that nine-tenths of the whole German army was on the Russian front with 1,900,000 reserves being called up, but that the Red army was moving up enough men to meet this immense threat.

Melbourne, Australia—A quickening in the tempo of Allied air raids on the important and battered Japanese base at Rabaul on New Britain island was reported by General MacArthur's headquarters.

Escanaba—Joseph Peltin, 66, well-known Escanaba businessman and owner of Peltin's Furniture store, died in Milwaukee where he had been receiving treatment for a chronic ailment, it was reported here.

Gladstone—Michael LaPine and Miss Mary Ann Gregory returned to Battle Creek following a weekend visit at the home of Mrs. Ann LaPine, 723 Michigan Ave.

20 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—"The Jade Necklace" was to be presented under the sponsorship of the Daughters of Isabella in the W. W. Oliver Auditorium with a cast including Blanche Fillion, Alice Kvam, Lois Gaut, Tekla Pinozek, Isabell Cass, Dr. G. H. Gleich, Clarence Zerbel and Fred LaBranche.

Escanaba—Mr. and Mrs. Julius Kozitske, 1315 Second Ave. S., celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Gladstone—Mary Masterson submitted to an emergency operation for relief from appendicitis at St. Francis hospital.

Fortress In Syria Relic Of Crusades

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In the mountains of western Syria, close to the border of Lebanon and 22 miles from the Mediterranean, stands Kalat-el-Husn, the Crusaders' mighty fortress of Krak des Chevaliers, a reminder to the modern world of the ancient wars that once swept the Middle East.

This fortress alone, of the many built by the Crusaders during their 200-year tenure of the Holy Land, remains uncrumbled, while its companions are falling ruins or scattered piles of stone, says the National Geographic Society.

Krak looks today much as it did when the Knights Hospitalers held it in the 12th and 13th centuries. Then it was a bastion protecting the Lebanese coast from the Moslems ranging the Syrian desert from Damascus to Alleppo.

Mighty Krak withstood at least 12 separate sieges while in Christian hands. The great Moslem leader Saladin, considering it impregnable, refrained from attack in 1187. It remained a Crusader stronghold until the cruel but brilliant, one-eyed Sultan Bibars, "the Panther," employed a ruse to take it from the hopelessly outnumbered Hospitalers in 1271.

So They Say

Some members of the committee wish you'd also include the telephone numbers.—Sen. Clyde Hoey (D., N. C.) after Mrs. Olga ("Oilboat Olga") Konow gave the Senate investigating committee her new New York address.

Ruark Looking For Poor Texan

By ROBERT C. RUARK

NEW ORLEANS—We are heading west for a look at Texas this trip, and I have only one serious objective. By the great horn spoon, I aim to find me a poor Texan if it takes all summer.

Once I was sitting in the drinking room in the Shamrock Hotel in Houston, and there was a sudden hush. A deep Texas voice cut through the silence. "They's just got to be some poor people somewhere," the voice said plaintively. "Everybody just can't be this rich."

The new-rich Texan, with his money in the ground and his cattle in the bank, has become a cl... of success story in recent yea... has become a noisy symbo... wears mink dungarees and... his Cadillacs in fleets of a do... He is supposed to bite the neck off his bourbon bottle and yell "Wahoo!" at appropriate intervals.

I am getting just a little weary of the symbolized Texan, and I am quite sure that the symbolized Texan is just as weary of reading cracks about the Texas navy and having his entire state translated in terms of fast, new oil-and-cattle money.

Can't All Be Rich

There must be considerable folk in the state of Texas who are not Jesse Jones and Glenn McCarthy and H. L. Hunt and Hugh Roy Cullen. Everybody in Texas cannot possibly be Amon Carter. There must be some Texans who do not spend all their time building monumental hotels in their own image and threatening to recapture the United States.

This is a side of the state I would like to see—the average side, for experience has been mostly with the blustering barons. The barons are nice guys, too, but when I am around one all I can think of is how poor I am and how poor I will most likely continue to be.

There is a sincere side to the big state across the river that seldow gets much attention, which is a quiet and undemonstrative worship of Texas by some Texans. I know some men like Ralph Johnston and Vernon Frost, in Houston, who have made a lot of money out of oil, and who have just as quietly plowed it back into the ground.

Some of the fine efforts in the improvement of the land, of advance in agriculture, of advance in opportunity for workmen have been quietly supplied by scores of wealthy Texans who have not despoiled the soil which yields them oil, but have paid a debt of gratitude by attempting to rebuild and improve that same old chunk of mother earth.

The last time I saw Texas it seemed to me that superficially, at least, and possibly basically, the state was losing its raw, stumbling, uneasy self-assertion, after years of compulsive braggadocio because all it had was size. This seemed true of Houston, especially, a city so new in the major leagues that it still looks very awkward, like an outsize adolescent.

Search For Poor Man

I have a hunch that I will be able to find at least one poor man in Texas, at least one ugly woman, at least one short man, and at least one fellow who does not preface all remarks with "ol' podner."

We may even discover that Texas has at last become tolerant of the rest of the country, and if we are very, very good, and make the right offer, Texas may even allow the United States to join it, thereby solidifying the nation.

This is very necessary, I think, that the Texans should accept us as an ally. They have enough oil, enough gas, enough heat and enough grain and cotton to cause us severe annoyance this side of the Mississippi if they ever take it into their heads to secede.

Yacht Club Members Meet, View Movies

Members of the Escanaba Yacht Club were guests of the Gladstone Yacht Club at a meeting Tuesday night at which movies taken of the Rogue River in Oregon were shown.

Slides of the Great Lakes cruising club were also shown and the meeting was followed by a lunch.

Another work party will be held tonight at the Escanaba club. Members are urged to appear to help with the work of refurbishing the clubhouse for the coming season.

Democrats Like Sen. Humphrey

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota reportedly is cocking an interested ear to suggestions — described by friends as "numerous" —that he seek the Democratic Presidential nomination.

These friends told a reporter privately that Humphrey has made no decision but, on the other hand, has shut no doors on the idea lately. Early this year he said he had no White House ambitions.

When Truman bowed out of the race, Humphrey declined to say whom he would back for the nomination. He has said Sen. Estes Kefauved of Tennessee would be an "excellent" choice.

Some Democratic leaders, reportedly less enthusiastic about Kefauver, are understood to have urged Humphrey to start tooting his own horn.

They are said to feel that on the civil rights issue, for example, Humphrey would be a much stronger candidate than the Tennessean.

Humphrey led the move that nailed a strong Civil Rights plank into the 1948 Democratic platform —and widened the North-South split in party ranks.

Humphrey friends say they are willing to concede he almost undoubtedly would be without any support in the south, but that they believe he could be nominated despite that.

Wall Street

By RADAR WINGET

NEW YORK — (AP) — A selling squall in the oils today shook the stock market soundly and swamped the ticker tape briefly.

When the air cleared the market was up a bit from its lowest level and trading proceeded quietly.

Steels were under pressure at the height of the selling, but they weathered the storm in good shape and snapped back sharply from their lows.

Among issues hit by the selling were Amerada, Continental Oil, Kern County Land, Texas Pacific Land Trust, Shell Oil, Santa Fe, New York Central, Union Pacific, Standard Oil (N. J.), Gulf Oil, Sylvania Electric, American Cyanamid, Republic Steel, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Anaconda Copper, and United Air Lines.

Imperial Oil in Canada cut the price of crude oil and other products, which some took as a direct reflection of the effect of heavy production.

Continental Oil reduced the amount of crude oil run through its refineries as did Shell Oil last week, and there were reports of heavy stocks of oil products in the mid-continent refining sections and the mid-west consuming areas.

And disappointing first quarter earnings reports persisted. The latest was American Cyanamid which reported first quarter profits equal to $1.64 as against $2.35 a share a year ago.

Canadian and other oil issues suffered in the curb market in active trading. Lower were Breeze Corp., British American Oil, Calgary & Edmonton, Calvan Consolidated Oil, Canada Southern Oils, Devon Leduc Oils, Humble Oils, Imperial Oil, International Petroleum, Jupiter Oils, and Louisiana Land.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U. S. Governments in the over the counter market were slightly higher.

Convict Demands At Jackson Met To Save Guards

ed brutality, overcrowding of the vast prison, lack of proper segregation and medical care and inadequate parole procedure among other things.

A no reprisal demand was modified by Gov. Williams to a pledge of no reprisals by guards or other personnel who operate Michigan's prisons for the state department of corrections.

The governor's capitulation came after tense hours when the guards' lives hung in slender balance against the mounting rage and frenzy of the convicts barricaded in Cellblock 15.

Personal effects — wallets and identification papers—of two of the guards were thrown from the cellblock to the ground outside. The defiant gesture appeared to prison officials as an open threat of death to the guards.

This fear was heightened when Jack (Crazy Jack) Hyatt emerged from behind-the-scenes leadership to take front-line command of the mutiny. The quick-tempered long-term convict once seized Gov. Williams at knife-point as an escape shield at Marquette prison.

Play Cat And Mouse

Williams was visiting the branch prison at the time. Hyatt failed to get away with that brazen escape try.

Swarms of heavily armed state troopers massed last night in the rotunda of the prison administration building. They were primed to storm Cellblock 15 at the first sign that harm had befallen the dog - tired unshaven hostage-guards.

But State Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard carefully avoided any signal that might send his troopers into a premature attack and further endanger the guards.

Thus hour after hour, the State of Michigan played cat and mouse with convicts so high strung after five days of mutiny that an auto backfire in the distance sent them into a delirium of nervous fright.

The mutiny began Sunday night in Cellblock 15, where the worst desperadoes in the 6,500 man prison were serving isolation terms for defiance of prison rules.

The rebels seized 13 guards but in the next five days they let four of them go—because of age or illness or in deals for concessions from officials.

One Dead, 11 Wounded

On Monday, the isolated rioting spread throughout the big red prison like a grass fire. The raging convicts fired recreation buildings, ripped apart the insides of their neat cellblocks and spread smoking debris across trim lawns just turning a spring-like green.

One convict was killed, 11 injured. Four state troopers suffered minor wounds.

Gradually, the rioting was put down in one cellblock after another until by yesterday block 15 was the last real bastion of rebel strength.

In that block, the prison's toughest convicts held knives and clubs over the hostage guards, threatening to take their lives in reprisal for any attempt to storm the cellblock.

Warden Julian Frisbie and other prison officials played an extremely cautious game, fearful that too much pressure on the convicts might mean the lives of the guards.

Hot coffee and sandwiches were sent into the cellblock from time to time by prison authorities. Heat, light, and telephone service were maintained.

TRUCE TERMS LISTED

JACKSON—(AP)—In gaining an end to the five-day riot at Southern Michigan prison, the state agreed to remodel the dark, extra-secure disciplinary cellblock—No. 15—where it started.

The state also agreed, through Warden Julian N. Frisbie, to election by the prisoners of a 10-inmate advisory council, to put no one in a disciplinary cell again without a trial by the prisoners' disciplinary court, and to permit counsellors to see prisoners under punishment whenever the convict wishes.

More Light Wanted

Here's what the state agreed to, step-by-step:

1—No reprisal of any sort to be initiated or perpetrated by personnel of the Michigan department of corrections.

2—To remodel Cellblock 15 by enlarging the now-small, almost peephole windows on the outside; by equipping all cells with cots; by painting each cell in lighter color; and providing each cell with a grill-type door, against which the solid doors would be shtu only when prisoners became too noisy.

3—Provide professional contact when men are being disciplined by permitting counsellors free access to all five tiers of No. 15; the librarian, music director, hobby craft supervisor and education supervisor also to be permitted free access to No. 15 except in the solitary confinement section.

4—To segregate those practicing homeosexual activities beyond reasonable control in the general prisoner group and also to provide for segregation of those needing protection from possible assault from other inmates and those uncontrollably assaultive in the general prisoner group. Whether a man should be given segregated status should be determined by a board consisting of the assistant deputy warden in charge of custody, or his representative, and the assistant deputy warden in charge of individual treatment or his representative and, if needed to break a deadlock between them, the counsellor assigned to the convict involved.

No Weapons Inside

5—No convict to be taken to a detention cell until after trial by a disciplinary court.

6—Elimination of all restraint equipment from the inside of the prison except handcuffs, leg irons, restraint belts and come-ons, a wrist-chain.

7—To provide everyone in the institution with full rations, whether in detention or not.

8—No weapons to be permitted inside the walls.

9—To provide inmates seeking dental care with services of a dentist in the order of their applications—first come, first served.

10—To provide for an inmate advisory council of 10 men to be elected by coupon ballots printed in the prison newspaper, "The Spectator," and signed by name and number of each voting inmate. The inmate advisory council to meet with the assistant deputy warden of individual treatment on the first Monday of each month to discuss inmate grievances and problems.

Warden Julian N. Frisbie also forwarded to the state parole board a complaint of favoritism and other grievances raised by the mutinying prisoners.

Frisbie said the letter "states so clearly and concisely the problems of the inmates" complaining that "no revision or paraphrasing of mine will improve it."

Fire Reveals Still

HOLLY—(AP) —A routine fire call near this Oakland County village Wednesday uncovered a 100-gallon moonshine still and the remains of 10 mash barrels. Firemen were summoned by an unidentified person. They found the still in the ruins of a shed on a Rose township farm. An unidentified tenant farmer, who was held for questioning, said he knew nothing of the still.

Governor Plays Politics In Prison Riot, Says Solon

reduced the prison guard staff too low and had rejected his request for $600,000 for a new unit at the Ionia Reformatory to take the pressure of overcrowding off the Southern Michigan prison.

"The guard forces at the prison are at a peak now," Bonine said. He quoted the Corrections Department as saying it had 564 custodial employes now compared to 560 in 1949 and in 1950.

The administration only asked for more guards next fiscal year if more honor camps were to be established, Bonine said, and the Legislature granted that request.

Bonine, GOP caucus leader in the Senate, declared Williams is "completely wrong" in saying the Legislature ignored his request for an outside dormitory at Ionia.

Dormitories Authorized

On the advice of the state corrections commissioner Ernest C. Brooks and the "insistence" of the budget office, Bonine said, the legislature provided $80,000 to start the Ionia dormitory and an equal amount for the same purpose at the Marquette branch prison.

Bonine said the prison camp program to relieve overcrowding, which Williams claimed credit for, was started before Williams took office.

He asserted "I wish the governor could forget for a moment he is a politician running for reelection. The governor should make sure of his facts before attempting to make a political issue of a disastrous situation which requires full cooperation to correct."

"The Legislature put the prison system directly under the governor's control x x x. The governor cannot escape responsibility for administering the prisons—and in their statements the rioters blamed various administrative practices—by making false charges against the Legislature."

Problems Face Youths At Rock

ROCK — In an effort to organize a "Youth Club" here the Rock teen-agers are faced with many perplexing problems.

Recently ago the old post-office building which is owned by the Rock Co-op Company was donated to the youth of Rock to organize a Youth Club. The reaction of the youth was enthusiastic. But then question number one came up. "Where can we put this building?" The ideal spot, it was agreed, would be in the vacant lot opposite the school. That answer was immediately tossed out the window when it was learned that a law restricted any building not owned by the school to be placed on school property. So far the problem still remains unsolved.

Although the organization of a Youth Club is entirely apart from the school, the student council took it up at one of their meetings. One of the questions asked was, "When we do get organized what type of supervision shall we use?"

At first the students felt that a self-supervised club would succeed well. However, when Art Peterson, Escanaba's recreational director, was consulted on the subject of a Youth Center such as the "314" in Escanaba, he replied that only under adult supervision would the club be a lasting success. The boys and girls now hope that they can find enough interested parents in the community who will give assistance in promoting their club.

In answer to the question of funds it was generally agreed that a membership would be formed and a nominal yearly fee would be paid by each member. This membership would include all interested minors from the seventh grade up.

At present the students plan to have a meeting to elect a citizen from the community to act as their chairman and aid them in getting the necessary financial help to get started from the different organization in Rock.

Ice Moves Out

When real warm days came to this area last week people concluded that the ice had left the local bay because for several years the temperature has mounted suddenly with the movement of the ice. This year the pattern changed and several days elapsed before the wind forced the loosened mass into the lake. Those who remember this condition in the past predict a very warm summer. The usual exit date has been around Apr. 12 but this year the bay was not clear until Monday, April 21.

Cat Scratch Fever Makes Humans Sick

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

CLEVELAND—(AP)—A new human disease, cat scratch disease, was reported to the American College of physicians.

Humans often get it after being scratched by house cats. The cats are perfectly healthy themselves. But the disease is caused by something, maybe a virus, carried on the cats' claws.

This ailment apparently is not uncommon, said Dr. Worth B. Daniels of Georgetown University School of Medicine, and Dr. Frank G. MacMurray of Washington, D. C. They reported 60 cases in 15 states and Hawaii and Canada.

A few days after being scratched, humans get sick. They get a fever, which may run to 104 degrees, and last a few days to five weeks.

Lymph nodes of glandular kernels in the armpits, neck and groin may swell to the size of golf balls or small oranges. Often they break down into abscesses, with release of pus. The nodes may stay swollen and tender for seven weeks to six months.

Humans feel sick, with poor appetite, weakness, nausea, aching, chills, and headaches. Some show a small skin rash.

The humans always recover, but may feel ill for six months. No treatment is known yet. The antibiotics chloromycetin and aureomycin may help somewhat if given early. Sulfa drugs and streptomycin don't do any good.

Drs. Daniels and MacMurray reported a skin test to detect the cat fever. They said the cat fever is sometimes mistaken for rabbit fever, infectious mononucleosis, brucellosis or goat fever, Hodgkin's disease, or glandular tuberculosis.

Their development of a test led to requests for the test material from doctors in 15 states, mostly in the east, but ranging as far west as Texas. No way is known of testing cats to see whether they can cause the disease.

Monkey Lung Keeps Human Beings Alive To Perform Surgery

By FRANK CAREY

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. —(AP)—First use of a monkey lung to provide an external substitute for the lungs of a human being during surgery was announced by a surgeon who said the technique kept several babies alive for a time—one of them for three hours.

The monkey lungs, freshly removed from the animals, were used in conjunction with a "mechanical heart" and were employed specifically to supply oxygen to the blood of the patients whose own heart and lung systems were cut off.

Substitute Heart Used

One monkey lung was used for each of five human infants. All the babies were suffering from congenital heart defects, and direct operation on the heart itself constituted their only chance for survival.

None of the babies survived, but the surgeon who described the technique said there is encouragement in the fact that life was maintained — even though temporarily—with the aid of a "substitute" heart and lung system outside the patients' own bodies.

Dr. Robert Janes, head of the department of surgery at the University of Toronto, said the technique was developed by Dr. W. T. Mustard of the university staff. Although the work has not yet been described in scientific literature, Dr. Jame mentioned it briefly at a meeting of the American surgical association here.

He had been commenting on a scientific paper by Dr. Willis J. Potts of Chicago, describing successful animal experiments with "substitute" lungs.

First of Its Kind

Dr. Janes said the Canadian monkey lung technique constituted another possible step toward the objective of perfecting substitute heart and lung systems for use in cases where temporary stoppage of t' patient's own heart and lungs offers the only chance for successful surgery.

He stressed that the Canadian work and that of other investigators in this "substitute" system field is still in the experimental stage.

Several investigators have kept animals alive for long periods with such systems, and there have been three cases where humans have been kept alive for short periods with the aid of purely mechanical systems.

But the Canadian work is the first in which the lung of an animal has been used as an experimental substitute for the lungs of a human.

Dr. James said that Dr. Mustard has for several years been doing animal studies on the subject. But recently, he decided to try the lung of a monkey in human cases, on the theory that it might prove simpler to use than a wholly mechanical one hitherto employed in the three human cases reported elsewhere.

Blood Pumped Out

Dr. Janes said the results of a Canadien test have not yet been fully evaluated, but that there is some indication that monkey lungs might be especially useful in operating on infants—provided the technique is fully perfected.

It works this way:

Blood is pumped out of the patient's veins by means of a mechanical heart. The blood then is fed through the monkey lung, which is caused to inflate and deflate automatically. The lung takes in oxygen, which is then supplied to the blood. It also removes carbon dioxide from the blood. The blood ultimately is returned to the patient's body by means of a tube linked with an artery.

Coal Mine Explosion In Eastern Germany Kills 13, Injures 27

BERLIN— (AP)— A coal mine explosion behind the Iron Curtain in East Germany has killed at least 13 miners and injured 27. An undisclosed number of miners are listed as missing.

An official statement by the East German government said the blast Saturday was in a shaft of a hard coal mine in Zwickau in southern Saxony, an area closed to westerners.

The announcement was the first of its kind to come from the Communist government although it is known that copper and uranium mines have exploded in the past. This fact led to speculation that the latest disaster was so great it was felt it could not be kept secret.

Some East Zone coal pits work as many as 500 men each. Conditions in many are primitive and dangerous because the Russians stripped them of much equipment as reparations just after the war.

Bats are not "blind as bats." As far as naturalists can tell, they have very fair daytime vision.

Only Selfish Love Asks Sex Before Marriage

By Elizabeth B. Hurlock, Ph.D.

(Q) "I have been going with a boy for about a year and we are very much in love. I am 16 and he is 18. It seems now that everything is sex. Not that we ever do anything that is wrong but he has asked me to. I am very mixed up. Do you think he really loves me if he wants to have sexual relations? Do you think I should break up with him?"—G. M.

(A) Yes, I think this boy unquestionably loves you but in a selfish way. He certainly is not thinking of your safety, your reputation, or of your future if he asks you to have sexual relations with him.

When a boy goes steadily with a girl for a year, and when they are very much in love with each other, it is natural that they should want to marry and express their love in a natural way.

Economic circumstances, the need to complete an education, and the necessity for getting a start in business before assuming the responsibilities of marriage all force young people of today to defer marriage. That, however, does not justify a boy's asking a girl to engage in a relationship that belongs to marriage.

You will be wise to say a very firm "No" to him when he brings up the subject again. If he does not like your answer, let him break off the romance. The chances are, however, that he won't. If he is the right kind of boy, he will respect you for the stand you have taken.

If, on the other hand, he is not the right kind, and if his love for you is so selfish that he thinks only of himself, then let him go his own way. There are plenty of others who will fall in love with you and will not ask you to do what every young person knows is wrong.

A girl is very foolish to buy love or even popularity at the risk of ruining her whole life. Furthermore, if she has any self-respect, she could not bring herself to pay so high a price for love from any man. Take a firm and determined stand on this subsubject. I can guarantee that you will not lose your popularity.

Elizabeth Hurlock is one of the nation's great psychologists, and she will gladly help you with personal problems.

Congregational Union Service At Fayette Sunday

A union service of the Delta Congregational parishes at which Miss Mary Antoinette Beals, missionary in Africa a number of years, will speak, will be held Sunday, April 27, at 10:45 a. m. at the Congregational Church in Fayette, the Rev. Gerald W. Bowen, pastor, announced today.

There will be no other services in the Congregational churches and no Sunday School at Cooks.

The Women's Association spring meeting will be held at 1:45 p. m. at the Fayette church with Mrs. Keith Elliott of Battle Creek in charge. Dinner will be served by the Fayette parish women.

Miss Beals spent 8 years among the friendly Bantu people of Africa, teaching in Inanda Seminary, the oldest and largest school for Bantu girls in South Africa with pupils from many tribes included Zulu, Xosas and Basutos. In addition to her classes at the school she is school librarian with about 1700 books in her charge, a number of them in Zulu. She also is official editor of the school magazine.

Born in Bangor, Me., she is a graduate of Wheaton College and Boston University School of Religious Education. During her last term of service preceding this furlough she was teaching English and history to students equal in grade to the American high school senior.

District Auxiliary Meeting Sunday

A special meeting of the Upper 11th District American Legion Auxiliary has been called by Mrs. John P. Greis of Escanaba, president, for Sunday, April 27. The meeting will be held at the Legion Club rooms beginning at 1:30 p. m. The afternoon sessions will be followed by a pot luck supper. Representatives are expected from all parts of the district.

Your steam iron should be emptied as quickly as possible after using, and while the iron is still hot. This will dry out any water remaining in the iron.

SPEAKER SUNDAY—Miss Mary Antoinette Beals, instructor at Inanda Seminary, South Africa, will be the speaker at a union meeting of Delta Congregational parishes at the Fayette church Sunday.

Change the entire character of a room with slip-covers and draperies featuring strong basic colors: red, orange, blue, green.

Public Health Nurses Meeting In Iron Mountain

County health and school nurses will attend the second meeting of the Upper Peninsula Public Health Nurses Association to be held at the Dickinson Hotel in Iron Mountain Friday.

In the group will be Miss Irene Larson, R. N., who is president of the association, Miss Phoebe Anderson, R. N., Miss Anita Kotila, R. N., Miss Hilma Asikainen, R. N., Miss Cora Peltier, R. N., Miss Elizabeth Nelson, R. N., and Miss Lucille Savage, R. N., and two lay members of the health committee, Mrs. C. L. Riegel and Mrs. Paul Rademacher.

The meeting will be the first since the young organization was founded at Sault Ste. Marie in November. The program has been arranged to appeal to the general public rather than nurses alone and those attending are urged to invite guests.

The morning session from 10 to 12 will be devoted to registration and business meetings. Luncheon will be served in the hotel dining room and the meetings will continue at 1 p. m.

The Upper Peninsula Association is the only organization through which public health nurses can meet each other and discuss problems of interest to the entire group, and it has as one of its primary purposes the furthering of good working relations between the health departments of the Upper Peninsula.

Cities And Townships Could Join To Promote Community Hospital

There is a piece of state legislation which provides for a Community Hospital Authority which possibly could be used by Gladstone in its promotion of a community hospital in this city, State Representative Einar Erlandsen told a group of local citizens at a Chamber of Commerce meeting here Tuesday evening at the Lincoln Hotel

He said the act allows local units of government to join for the purpose of erecting hospitals and regulations of the bill provide that the authority may be formed provided a two-thirds majority of the county board of supervisors approve.

He said he would make an effort to have the author of the bill come to Gladstone later to explain the working of the legislation in detail

Rep. Erlandsen said he contacted the director of the Michigan Bureau of Hospital Survey and Construction at Lansing a few weeks ago and was advised that St. Francis Hospital in Escanaba is still interested in obtaining federal aid in an enlargement program there

The speaker said he was told that a previous director of the bureau had advised the St Francis Hospital authorities two years ago when they made application that assistance could not be given until they had spent $30 000 in specified improvements and that now this had been done and consideration of their application was being asked.

H. T. Brewer, chairman of the local Hospital Committee, spoke briefly and outlined work that has been done thus far. He expressed the belief that we can have a hospital here if we want it and if everyone will work for it.

Barbara Brassick Marries Escanaban

Miss Barbara Brassick, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Brassick, 1308 Montana avenue, and Richard Nelson, Escanaba, were united in marriage on April 5. The nuptial vows were spoken at St. John's Church in Elmyra, New York, before the Rev. Fr. J. M. Narmara at 9 a. m.

Attending the young couple were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gillespie.

For her wedding the bride wore a red suit with matching accessories and a corsage of white gardenias. Her attendant wore a grey suit with like accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

The newlyweds spent their honeymoon at Niagara Falls and Times Square, New York city.

They will make their home in Waukegan, Illinois.

The bride is a graduate of Gladstone High school, class of 1951.

Mrs. Glenn Kjellberg was dismissed from St. Francis Hospital on Monday, and is convalescing at her home.

Helen McLaughlin Gets Assignment In Berlin

Miss Helen McLaughlin, formerly of Manistique, a Department of State press officer in Germany, has been assigned to the coverage of the International Federation of Free Journalists of Central and Eastern Europe and Baltic and Balkan countries being held in Berlin April 24 to 28.

Organized in 1948, the federation unites more than 1,200 self-exiled journalists from the Soviet occupied countries in national associations. Nationalities represented are Albanian, Byelorussian, Bulgarian, Czech and Slovak, Estonian, Hungarian, Latvian, Polish, Rumanian, Ukrainian and Yugoslav, Croat, Serb and Slovene. The organization's headquarters are in London and its regional unions are in the United States, France, Germany, Austria, Sweden and Italy.

The IFFJ publishes about 150 newspapers, mostly periodicals, for the use of hundreds of thousands of their compatriots living abroad. Its principal objects are (1) to oppose any totalitarian doctrines which misrepresent the principle of freedom of the press; (2) restore the proper meaning of traditional ideas of freedom and democracy, truth and honesty in relations between individuals as well as nations, and (3) defend professional rights of its members and facilitate their contacts and collaboration with western journalists and the press.

Present chairman of the federation is Boleslaw Wierzbianski, who is Polish, and George Jonescu, a Rumanian.

Miss McLaughlin, who resides in Frankfurt, is assigned to the office of the U. S. High Commission for Germany.

Amateur Show Plans Progress

A full program of amateur acts and specialty numbers is promised for the Manistique Lions Club third annual amateur show on Saturday evening, May 3, it is announced by the committee in charge.

Amateur actors, singers and musicians from Schoolcraft, Mackinac, Delta and Luce counties are expected to participate in the program and to compete for the three top prizes offered. Every performer in the show, however, will be rewarded with a token by the Lions club, it is announced. Amateurs 18 years of age or younger are invited to enter. They may register at the Leonard Barber Shop.

Rehearsal for the show, initially scheduled for April 29, has been postponed to Thursday evening, May 1, in the music room of the junior high school building. This will be held at 8 p. m. and all contestants must be present for preliminary try-outs, it is stated.

Show winners will be selected on the basis of audience applause, as at previous amateur shows, with a committee of three competent judges evaluating the applause.

J. Earl Cousineau, of the Manistique high school faculty, is show director and will officiate at the performance. Miss Geraldine Gorsche has been engaged to provide piano accompaniments.

An advance sale of tickets is now underway. Proceeds will be used for the club's sight and blind program and for other community betterment activities.

Missionary Nurse Speaks At Women's Festival Service

Miss Edythe Kjellin, missionary nurse who served in Tanganyika, East Africa, spoke on "God Gave the Increase" at the Women's Missionary Society festival service here Tuesday evening.

The service was a highlight of the missionary group's annual meeting, being held in conjunction with the Superior Conference convention.

Selecting her topic from First Corinthians, Miss Kjellin told of the work of missionaries among African natives and praised the pioneer church workers who laid the groundwork for Christianity in that vast continent.

As a result of missionary work some 14,000 heathen natives have become baptized Christians in the Tanganyika area, she said, expressing her happiness that last year seven native men were ordained in the missionary district.

She closed her message by describing the need for indigenous church workers in the African field. Missionaries, she explained, are only there temporarily, and permanent Christian leaders are necessary to promote the work of the church among the natives.

The conference convention was scheduled to close at noon today after being in session since Monday night.

Winning Essays Are Selected

First, second and third place winners in the VFW Auxiliary essay contest, recently concluded, will be announced at an assembly in the Manistique high school auditorium next Wednesday afternoon, it is announced.

Three contest judges met yesterday afternoon and compared individual scores to select the winning essays. Names of authors had been deleted from the essays entered for judging, and they were designated by numbers only.

The essay topic this year was "America Is Everybody's Business." The local winner will be entered in state competition, and state winners will compete for national honors.

Announcement of winners and presentation of awards will be made by Dr. Merle Wehner, one of the three judges. Other judges were Mrs. J. Joseph Herbert and William L. Norton.

A total of 18 essays by Manistique high school students were entered in the contest.

New Officers Are Installed Tuesday By Lady Foresters

New officers of the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters were installed Tuesday evening by the Rev. George Pernaski, assistant pastor of St. Francis de Sales Church.

New officers are:

Chief ranger, Mrs. George Tiglas; vice chief ranger, Mrs. Charles Redeker Sr.; recording secretary, Mrs. Ivor Willcock; financial secretary, Mrs. Fred Chartier; treasurer, Miss Mary Danko; trustees, Mrs. Harold McNamara, Mrs. Richard Berger and Miss Beverly Winsor; junior director, Mrs. Donald Messier; junior conductor, Mrs. Adam Houghton; inside sentinel, Mrs. Arthur Rousseau; good of the order chairman, Mrs. George Huber.

Following her installation as good of the order chairman, Mrs. Huber announced the appointment of the following committee members: Mrs. Charles Redeker Sr., Miss Mary Danko, Miss Beverly Winsor, Mrs. Roy Burns, Mrs. John Potvin, Mrs. Peter Hoholik, Mrs. Donald Hoholik, Mrs. Harold Popour, Mrs. Martin Beaudry, Mrs. Justin Nelson, Mrs. Gerard Heinz, Mrs. John Ozanich, Mrs. Harry Downing, Mrs. Fred Chartier, and Mrs. Roland H. Hoholik.

For the service the officers' table was decorated with a centerpiece of garden flowers and pussy-willows and two tall tapers. Other tables had small yellow tapers, and garden flowers and pussy-willows in small vases. The flowers were donated by Mr. and Mrs. William Wedegartner.

Cards were played after the service, with prizes being awarded as follows: 500, Mrs. Adam Houghton, high, and Mrs. Alphonse LaVigne, second; bridge, Mrs. Norman Oliver, high, and Mrs. Emmett McNamara, second.

To Have 70th Anniversary

The seventieth anniversary of the First Baptist Church in Manistique will be celebrated next Tuesday evening, April 29, with a pot luck dinner, an annual business meeting and a program, it is announced by the Rev. A. Barton Brown, pastor.

Pot luck dinner is scheduled for 6:30 under the supervision of the Ladies' Aid Society. The business meeting will follow at which semi-annual reports will be presented, a brief history of the church given, and a roll call of members conducted.

All friends and members of the church are invitde to attend.

A brief outline of the church's history was announced as follows by the Rev. Brown:

"In October, 1872, the first Baptists, Mr. and Mrs. Martin H. Quick, came to reside in the little village of Manistique which then had a population of about 100. At that time there were no churches in the place, and no religious services were maintained. In August of 1873, a Sunday School was organized with M. H. Quick as superintendent. As the town grew and other Baptists moved in, Rev. C. W. Burnham was called from Pontiac. Services were maintained in the school house, and on the ninth of April, 1882, the First Baptist Church was organized with 18 charter members.

"The church building was dedicated on Nov. 3, 1883. During the pastorate of the Rev. F. K. Flower, 1886-1891, the parsonage was built. A service of dedication was held in November, 1905, for extensive additions to the church building under the leadership of the Rev. J. B. Fox, pastor."

Four Acres Near Isabella Burned

The Manistique ranger district's first forest fire late yesterday afternoon underscores the high hazard now prevailing in the woods, it is reported by Edwin Crook, local forest ranger.

The fire, reported at 4:30 p. m., blackened about four acres of grassland three miles northwest of Isabella. A crew of men under the direction of Fire Warden Jacob Landis, of Isabella, and Conservation Officer Hugh Fisher, of Nahma, brought the flames under control about 5 p. m., and last night a small guard was maintained at the site to prevent a new outbreak.

The fire was started by a smoker, Crook said.

"We were fortunate in having the fire start so late in the afternoon," the forest ranger said. "With the woods virtually a tinderbox, the blaze could have become disastrous if it had broken out a few hours earlier in the day."

Unless rain falls, the forest fire danger will be extremely high this weekend, Crook said. He warned trout fishermen and others traveling in the wilderness to exercise every precaution to prevent starting fires.

Girl Scouts Plan Sale Of Cookies

Pending approval by Girl Scout leaders, Saturday, May 17, has been selected by the Manistique Girl Scout Council for the annual spring Girl Scout cookie sale, it is announced.

Profit of the sale this year will be diverted to a camping fund which will be used to help send Girl Scouts to Camp Timber Trail or the annual Day Camp.

Members of various troops will solicit cookie orders on Saturday, May 10, and delivery of the cookies will take place the following week.

Mrs. C. E. Johnson, Mrs. Carl Olson and Mrs. Earl LeBrasseur have been appointed by Mrs. L. E. Wilson, Girl Scout commissioner, to supervise the cookie sale.

At its regular meeting Tuesday the council also heard a report from Mrs. Carl Olson, chairman of the tent committee. Purchase of tents for troop and trip camping was deferred until further consultation is held with troop leaders.

Mrs. Harry Kinnie, camp chairman, was authorized to name a committee to inspect and investigate suitable and available camp sites for possible future purchase.

Mrs. Richard Wilke, recently named Day Camp chairman, reported that dates for the annual day camping program will be announced soon.

Mrs. Ira Crawford, Timber Trail chairman, reported that the established dates at the camp will be July 6 thorugh Aug. 16. Mrs. John C. Hanson will be registrar for Timber Trail. New local appointments to the men's committee of the camp are William Hood and Alan Walter, it was announced.

Plans for Girl Scout participation in an Elks Youth Day celebration on May 1 was announced by the commissioner. The girls plan to march and to take part later in a youth program at the Elks Temple.

Four Part Program To Be Presented By School Bands Tonight

A four part program will be presented tonight in the auditorium by the junior and senior bands of Manistique high school, beginning at 8.

The junior band will present the first part of the program, followed by a group of solos. The third and final phase of the music presentation will be offered by the senior band. The fourth part of the program will be the presentation of letter and bar awards to various band members.

The playing of the national anthem will conclude the concert.

Band Plays At U. P. Festival

The Manistique high school band, rated one of the best produced here in years, will participate in the Upper Peninsula Band Festival Saturday in Escanaba.

A total of 61 band members will make the trip, leaving here by bus at 6:30 a. m. Saturday. The band is due to appear on the concert stage at 9 a. m.

Because weather has not permitted outdoor rehearsals, there will be no parade this year, it is announced by Joseph Giovannini, local band director.

Highlight of the festival will be a massed band performance at 8 p. m. Saturday on the Escanaba junior high school stage. Musicians from 22 Upper Peninsula bands will take part in the presentation.

The Manistique band will play three numbers at the festival—The New Colonial March by Hall, March of the Pioneers by Colby, and Americana Overture by Buchtel.

Elks To Have Youth Program

As part of an American counter-offensive against Communist propaganda, a "Youth Day" will be held in Manistique on Thursday, May 1, under the auspices of Manistique Lodge No. 632, B. P. O. E.

The program will be under the direction of the Elks youth committee of which Alan Walter is chairman.

Weather permitting, a parade will be held following which a program will be presented in the Manistique high school auditorium. Details of the parade and program will be announced later.

"This is an American version of the 'May Day' movement involving the Communist children who have an annual rally on May 1", Walter said. "However, in contrast, the Manistique youths are requested rather than compelled to participate in the activities put on for their benefit. Generally, it will be a display of the American anti-Red trend in which everybody is involved."

The program is one result of action taken during the winter to initiate a broad youth movement under the auspices of the Elks lodge, Walter stated. The public is requested to cooperate in this effort to combat Communism nad extol the American Way, the youth chairman said.

CARD OF THANKS

It is with a feeling of sincere gratitude that we take this means of expressing our deep appreciation and thanks to our friends and neighbors for their kindness shown us at the time of the death of our beloved husband and father, Michael Fox. We are very grateful to Rev. Charles Carmody for his consoling words and other manifestations of sympathy, to those who served as pallbearers, to those who offered the use of their cars, those who sent flowers, and to all others who aided us in so many ways. Your kindness will always be held in grateful remembrance.

Signed:

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

Another change in basketball coaching personnel in the Upper Peninsula high school ranks was announced recently . . S. F. Goedde, Irowood Red Devil coach the past four years, has resigned to take a teaching position at Lambertville, Mich., High School . . Replacing him will be John Krznarich who has been serving as Goedde's assisant.

* * * * *

The Kingsford High School track team has a number of returning veterans this year but only one of them is a letterman . . Speedy Joe Deldin, who ranked high among the Upper Peninsula's backs in football last season, is Coach Dick McCarthy's only letter winner back in action.

* * * * *

Earl "Jug" Girard, the Green Bay Packer football player who can also handle himself on the baseball diamond, this week signed to play for three-fourths of the 1952 season with the Green Bay Bluejays of the Wisconsin State League . . He'll be starting his third season with the Bluejays . . In 1948 he hit .310 and in 1949 he led the league in batting with a .367 average.

* * * * *

We note a coming heavyweight boxing match that sounds almost as interesting as the recent Ray Robinson-Rocky Graziano middleweight championship bout . . . Jack Hurley, astute manager of Harry "Kid" Matthews, has signed his heavyweight challenger to meet Rex Layne, the heavyweight hopeful who has a win over champion Jersey Joe Walcott to his credit . . Layne was beaten by Ezzard Charles in 11 rounds . . It sounds like it could be a good scrap.

* * * * *

Seven former members of the Wisconsin State League are currently playing in the major leagues . . They are Hank Bauer, once with Oshkosh and now a New York Yankee outfielder; Fond du Lac's Jimmy Dyck, Brownie outfielder-infielder; Green Bay's Billy Reed with the Braves, Andy Pafko with Brooklyn and Jimmy Delsing with the Brownies; Appleton's Mike Garcia with Cleveland and Joe Tipton, Philadelphia Athletics catcher.

Manistique Host To Newberry Track Team

MANISTIQUE—Manistique high school thinclads will face their first outside competition at a dual track and field meet here tomorrow afternoon against Newberry. The meet is scheduled for 3:30 at the A. F. Hall stadium.

Approximately 25 Emeralds will see action in various events, it is announced by Coach Robert Hussey. Expected to turn in good performances are Ray Cummings in the low hurdles, Dick Lake in the high hurdles, Bob McNamara in the pole vault event, and Francis Ekdahl in the half mile.

Newberry has a particularly strong track and field squad this spring, Coach Hussey said, and is expected to shine in the dash and relay events.

Track conditions at the stadium are "fair."

The Emeralds have been working out for several weeks in preparation for the spring track and field events.

ALL-CENTRAL TEAM — Eight players were named last night to the all-Central League basketball team. Selections were based on players choices from the eight-team circuit. Honored with all-league berths at the annual banquet in Nahma last night were, front row, left to right: George Anderson, Rapid River; Cornelius Sochay, Nahma; Lawrence Seymour, Nahma; Waldon Johnson, Rapid River. Back row: Douglas Murray, Cooks; Bob Lawrence, Powers; Paul Thibault, Nahma; Bill Goodman, Rapid River. (Daily Press Photo)

Play For Fun Of It, Central Cagers Urged

NAHMA—"Play for the fun of playing, and enjoy it to the utmost," Coach James Myers of Soo Tech College urged basketball players of the Central League at the annual conference cage banquet here last night.

Coach Myers, whose Soo Tech quint posted a record of 18 wins and four losses against top opposition last season, listed six factors which make a basketball team click.

First was the requirement that players play for the fun of playing. He followed with the advice that players must have an objective to shoot for, they must have scholastic ability, physical ability, must observe training rules and must work with an "all for one, one for all" attitude.

155 Attend

Myers was the main speaker at the banquet attended by 155 players, coaches, cheerleaders and superintendents of Central league teams. Schools represented were Nahma, Cooks, Rock, Rapid River, Bark River, Trenary, Powers-Spalding, Perkins and Eben.

The Soo Tech coach is a graduate of Illinois Wesleyan College and spent a brief time as a pitcher for the Cleveland Indians before a muscle injury put an end to his baseball career.

His Soo team, which is composed of freshmen and spohomores in college, travelled 6,000 miles last season and played 17 of its games against four-year colleges. The team won 17 straight games following the Christmas vacation and in forward Don Roe had the highest scoring college player in Michigan college circles. He averaged 29 points per game.

Leo Brunelle of Bark River, Central league president, served as toastmaster. He presented the league championship trophy to Nahma's co-captains Cornelius Sochay and Paul Thibault and awarded individual trophies to members of the all-league team named last night.

Members of the all-Central league team, selected by players, are Sochay, Thibault and Lawrence Seymour of Nahma, Bill Goodman, George Anderson and Weldon Johnson of Rapid River, Bob Lawrence of Powers and Douglas Murray of Cooks.

Special tribute was paid to Coach Harold "Babe" Anderson's Nahma quint which finished the season with the only undefeated record in the Upper Peninsula. The Arrows won the Upper Michigan and state Class E championship. (There are no Class E schools downstate.)

Brunelle traced the history of the Central league which observed its sixth anniversary this year. Powers is leaving the Central league for entry in the Little Six conference and Eben will take its place in the former circuit.

For Nahma it was the second straight league title. Previous winners were Rapid River, twice and Perkins.

The banquet, staged in the Community Center, was prepared and served by women of the Nahma Parent Teachers' Association. Dancing and bowling were enjoyed following the chicken dinner.

Perronville Baseball Meeting Set Sunday

A meeting of the Perronville baseball club will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Bartozek's Bar.

Players are urged to attend. A board of directors will be named for the coming season. Manager Ben Johnson will remain at the helm until the club is organized.

The Brooklyn Dodgers' 192 double plays last season was the third highest total in National League history. The Cincinnati Reds in 1928 and again in 1931 produced 194 twin killings.

Two-Hit Pitching Total Is New American Loop Record

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — A young comer named Bob Cain stole the show from Ol' Master Bob Feller last night as they matched throwing arms in a double one-hit pitching performance won by the St. Louis Browns and Cain, 1-0.

It was the 33-year-old Feller's 11th one-hit game in a long and sparkling career that includes three no-hitters. For the 27-year-old Cain, without a winning season in three years of major league ball, it was the first.

Bob Feller

From start to finish it was a ding-dong game. And by the time Cain fanned Harry Simpson—his seventh strikeout of the game—to end the evening, the Browns were in command of the American League lead and a new entry had been made in the American League record book.

Lowest In League

The two-hit total was the lowest in the 51-year-history of the junior circuit and the trick has been pulled only twice before in Major League play.

Bobby Young spoiled Feller's efforts and scored the lone run. His leadoff triple in the first inning put him in position to race home on Marty Marion's infield grounder that was muffed by Al Rosen. The official scorer termed it an earned run, however, despite the fact he charged Rosen with an error. He reasoned Young would have scored anyway.

Cain's lone lapse came in the fifth. But the Tribe's only base hit went down the drain as Luke Easter, who singled, never got any further than first base.

Ironically, both Young and Easter could take sheepish delight in their blows. For Young it was the first extra-base hit of the season and only his fourth hit in 21 trips to the plate.

For Easter it was the first hit in 13 trips against southpaw pitching this season.

First In 1906

The first twin one-hit pitching exhibition since July 4, 1906, when Mordecai Brown of Chicago's Cubs and Lefty Leifield of Pittsburg gave up one hit apiece as the Cubs won, 1-0, was witnessed by 7,110 fans.

They were amply rewarded for braving 50-degree temperatures.

The only other two-hit ball game on record was also a National League accomplishment. It came on May 2, 1917 as Jim Vaughn of Chicago and Fred Toney of Cincinnati pitched no-hit ball for nine innings. Then the Reds got two hits in the 10th to win, 1-0, while Toney tossed a 10-inning no-hitter.

Cain, who came to the Browns in a Valentine's Day packet this year in a seven-player deal with Detroit, warmed many a heart last night.

He walked but three men and faced only 27 batters in winning his second game against no defeats. He fanned the first three batters to step to the plate and had to pitch to only 12 men—the minimum—during the first four and the last four innings.

Feller was right on pace. He fanned five, walked two. From the second inning on he faced just 23 men, pitching to a game total of 28.

It was a bitter, upsetting defeat for the Indians who had breezed into Sportsman's Park Tuesday night with an unbeaten record in seven games. The Browns snapped that string, 8-3, and then climbed into first last night.

The Indians, meanwhile, tumbled into third behind the Boston Red Sox.

Dejection was a thing called the Cleveland dressing room after the game. Manager Al Lopez, generally quiet but co-operative, shut the door in the faces of anxious photographers.

"We don't want our picture taken when we lose," said Lopez. A tired Bobby Feller backed him up.

Tigers Give Rolfe Vote Of Confidence

DETROIT — (AP)—"It's wonderful. Greatest thing that could happen to the Tigers."

President Spike Briggs, young and dynamic, was cheering the almost unprecedented closed door meeting of players on his Detroit baseball club — the only major league team that has lost every game this season.

RED ROLFE

The players got Manager Red Rolfe off the hot seat at the meeting by giving him a 100 per cent vote of confidence in Chicago yesterday. The players acted voluntarily following printed reports they were disgruntled and angry at Red.

Some Gripes

Detroit writers traveling with the team confirmed some players had griped about Red in spring training but sentiment had switched during the eight-game losing streak.

Briggs thinks the club discovered new unity and fire in the last nine days of adversity and might become a winner from now on. In pre-season polls, many writers picked the Tigers for third or fourth place.

Tonight, St. Louis fans will get their first look at the "new" Tigers in action.

Virgil Trucks, who was supposed to have pitched against the Chicagoans yesterday, will face the Brownies tonight. He will be opposed by Duane Pillette, who already has notched one win for the rejuvenated Browns.

The Tiger player meeting followed in the wake of a story by Gordon Cobbledik, Cleveland columnist, that Detroit players were antagonistic to Rolfe and the feeling bordered on rebellion.

As spokesman for the Tigers, hurler Fred Hutchinson made the following statement:

Reports Unfair

"We feel that such reports of dissension are unfair and we are back of Rolfe one hundred per cent."

Almost overcome by his players' action, the Tiger manager said that he thought his players were "a great bunch of fellows."

"I know how my players feel about me now and I'm not worried," Rolfe said.

"If a manager can't grin in the face of derogatory reports when he is striving to win his first game of the season, then he doesn't belong in the major leagues," the Redhead added.

Hutchinson said that every man on the team had voted for Rolfe and that really means something.

The entire Detroit squad laughed off the Cleveland story.

After the game against the Browns tonight, the Tigers have an off day Friday before opening up a two-game stand at Briggs Stadium Saturday and Sunday against the high-flying Cleveland Indians.

Bears Practice Called Sunday

The Escanaba Bears will hold their first practice of the season on the city diamond Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, it was announced this morning by Jack Beck, manager.

The Bears met last week for an informal session at the 23rd street diamond, but this is the first official call for candidates.

No league opening date has been announced as yet, but the Tri County circuit is expected to get under way in mid-May. The Bears are defending champions of the league.

Escanaba this year will rely on younger ball players to carry the Tri County load. Most of last year's players have decided to switch to softball this season.

Beck stated that all players interested in trying out for positions on the team are to report Sunday afternoon.

A final Tri County league meeting is expected to be called soon to draw up the season schedule.

Set Dartball Banquet Date

The annual Escanaba Dartball Association season-ending banquet will be held Wednesday evening, April 30, at the Eagles clubrooms beginning at 6:30.

Toastmaster for the evening will be Bill Doucette. Plans are being made for 200 members and guests.

Eighteen trophies will be presented to managers of teams winning first and second places in the Delta county, City and Women's tournaments held recently.

In addition, Association president George LaCrosse will award first and second place league trophies and individual batting trophies.

Officers will be elected for next year and a social get-together will be held following the dinner.

Shamrock Bar Takes Top Team Position In Keg Tournament

GLADSTONE — The Shamrock Bar of Marquette grabbed the regular team plum in the U. P. Bowling tourney here last night, moving into the top spot with a 2699 total.

The new team leaders rolled games of 887, 939 and 873 to climb over Pelletier Wholesale of Houghton, former leader with 2665. Pacing the Shamrock team was James Carlton with a 607 series.

Van Eyck's of Manistique rolled into eighth in the team division with 2574. The tournament continues with action throughout the remainder of the weekend.

Parade Of Champions In Amateur Golf Tournament

PINEHURST, N. C.—(AP)—Today's North and South Amateur Golf tournament quarter-final round was a virtual parade of champions. Four of the eight survivors of yesterday's two rounds had accounted for six of the 51 previous titltes.

Veteran New Yorker Frank Strafaci from Flushing, Long Island, 1938 and 1939 champion, the last to take two in a row, had as his opponent over the 18-hole distance Ben Goodes, the laundryman from Reidsville, N. C. Goodes was a semi-finalist 10 years ago.

Frank Stranahan, Toledo, Ohio, another two timer, with victories in 1946 and 1949, met the Savannah, Ga., long ball hitter, Hobart Manley, the defending champion.

Mal Gallette, St. Albans, N. Y., sharpie and 1944 titlist, faced Ed Gravely, Rocky Mount, N. C., who had to play off with 11 other 80 shooters on Tuesday morning to qualify for one of the last five match play vacancies.

Billy Joe Patton of Morgantown, N. C., runner-up to Manley last year, had a toughie in steady Harry Haverstick Jr., of Lancaster, Pa.

The semifinals, over 36-holes tomorrow, will match the Strafaci-Goodes winner against the Patton-Haverstick survivor and the Stranahan-Manley victor against either Galletta or Gravely.

In the second and third round play yesterday Stranahan had his hands full. He won four straight holes to put out stubborn William Hynman III of Philadelphia, three and two, and then had to go all out in out-scrambling Arthur Ruffin, Wilson, N. C., one-up.

In sharp contrast, Manley, never playing better, was two under par in a six and five rout of Ray Palmer, Wyandotte, Mich., first round conqueror of British amateur champion Dick Chapman.

The 25-year-old Georgian was four under par in whipping Tom Strafaci, 7 and 5.

Knee Injuries Hurt Spartans

EAST LANSING— (AP) —Knee injuries are cutting into the manpower of the Michigan State college football team, now in its second week of spring practice.

Bernie Raterink, sophomore left half from Zeeland, underwent an operation at the college hospital yesterday for a torn knee ligament. Raterink reinjured his knee, previously hurt in high school, in a scrimmage earlier this week.

Dr. Charles F. Holland, team physician, said the operation was "very successful." Raterink, one of Coach Biggie Munn's most promising sophomores, probably will be able to play this fall, he said.

Alan Goldman, Lansing junior, a member of the junior varsity squad, also was operated on for a torn knee ligament. Goldman's condition also is good, Dr. Holland said.

No Action On Golf's Public Relation Man

CHICAGO—(AP) —The Professional Golfer's Association has tabled action on Fred Corcoran's attempt to gain official approval as the group's public relations director.

PGA officials ended their three-day meeting yesterday with the announcement that "everything discussed will be continued in future meetings."

Their next session probably will be during the National PGA Tournament at Louisville June 18-24.

Corcoran, former PGA publicity chief who resigned in 1947, has been offered a contract by tournament players. He reportedly has not signed it pending official blessing.

Brownies Grab First Place On Strength Of Win Over Indians

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

What goes with those revitalized, Hornsby-ized St. Louis Browns? One night they "Byrne" up the Cleveland Indians' seven-game winning streak and the next they raise "Cain" with the Tribe, shoving them out of first place and taking over the American League's top rung themselves.

BOB CAIN

Following on the heels of the splendid eight-hitter by Tommy Byrne Tuesday, Bob Cain unfurled a one-hit masterpiece last night as he pitched the rampaging Browns into first place with a brilliant 1-0 triumph over the Indians' great Bob Feller.

Cain had to pitch the best game of his life in order to win for Feller was magnificent, too, pitching a one-hitter himself. The lone Brownie safety, a triple by leadoff batter Bobby Young, proved Feller's undoing.

Earned Run

Marty Marion followed with a grounder to Al Rosen. When the third baseman fumbled the ball, Young scored the only run of the game. The tally was ruled earned since the official scorer was of the opinion that Young would have crossed the plate fumble or no.

The only hit permitted by Cain was a harmless single by Luke Easter in the fifth inning. The 27-year-old lefthander from Salina, Kas., walked three but was aided by three double plays. He struck out seven.

It was the second time in major league history that each pitcher limited the opposition to one hit. On July 4, 1906, Mordecai (three-fingered) Brown of Chicago and Lefty Leifield of Pittsburgh permitted only one hit each as the Cubs defeated the Pirates, 1-0.

On May 2, 1917, Hippo Jim Vaughn of Chicago and Fred Toney of Cincinnati pitched no-hitters each through nine innings. The Reds, however, nicked Vaughn for two hits and a run in the 10th to win 1-0 as Toney hurled a 10-inning no-hitter.

Former Record

The former American League record for the fewest hits by both teams in one game was three set by Detroit (2) and Washington (1), June 10, 1913, and equalled by Washington (2) and Cleveland (1) July 27, 1915.

It was the first one-hitter by Cain but the 11th for Feller and the only one-hitter he ever lost. Ironically, Cain was Feller's victim when Bob pitched his third no-hitter last year. The Cleveland righthander defeated Cain and Detroit last July 1, 2-1, holding the Tigers hitless. Cain allowed six hits.

Rookies Star

Boston's youth-infested Red Sox, behind the five-hit pitching of 37-year-old Ellis Kinder, defeated the New York Yankees, 3-1. Kinder walked six and fanned five in besting Allie (No-Hit) Reynolds.

The Red Sox "Kinder-garten" took charge of Boston's offense. Freshmen Jim Piersall, Ted Lepcio and Sammy White accounted for six of Boston's eight hits and drove in two of the runs. Piersall cracked two doubles, Lepcio hammered a home run and two-bagger and White slammed a triple and single.

The New York Giants outslugged the Boston Braves, 9-5, in the only National League game. Home runs by Alvin Dark, Don Mueller, Wes Westrum and relief pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm featured the Giant victory. Rookie Ed Mathews snapped out of his batting slump with a home run and two singles.

Scheduled games between the St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati, Brooklyn and Philadelphia, Detroit and Chicago and Washington and the Philadelphia Athletics were postponed because of rain. Pittsburgh and Chicago's Cubs were idle.

American Association Pitchers Gain Ground

(By The Associated Press)

The batters, who have been having a field day in the American Association, gave ground to the pitchers yesterday in the only two games played.

Two night contests, Columbus at Louisville and Toledo at Indianapolis, were postponed by rain and cold weather.

In afternoon games, Milwaukee shaded St. Paul 3-2 and moved into a tie for first place with idle Indianapolis, while Minneapolis beat Kansas City 3-1 and climbed into a tie for third place with Louisville.

Bill Allen became the first Brewer pitcher to go the full nine inning route as Milwaukee registered its fifth straight victory over the Saints. Allen spaced a nine-hitter and walked only two men.

Tigers Sharpen Claws For Brownies Tonight

CHICAGO—(AP)— The Detroit Tigers are sharpening their claws to climb out of the American League basement after giving Manager Red Rolfe a vote of confidence and shouldering all of the blame for a disastrous eight-game losing streak.

Fred Hutchinson

The Bengals hope to get their first taste of victory of the season tonight in St. Louis against the indomitable Browns who have nudged into the league lead.

That may be a tough job for the tailenders who have lost their first eight games. But yesterday's published report by a Cleveland sports columnist that there was "an anti-Rolfe feeling" among the players bordering on rebellion has kicked up their fur.

Secret Meeting

Before yesterday's game with the White Sox at Comiskey Park was postponed by inclement weather, the players called a secret meeting and gave Rolfe an unanimous vote of confidence.

"We wanted Red to know we are back of him 100 per cent," said spokesman Freddie Hutchinson. "We want to refute the story about dissension. Such a story comes at a bad time. It is absolutely untrue. The fact that we haven't won a game is our fault, not the manager's."

Rolfe is not a mother-hen type of boss and is a contrast to the man he succeeded as Tiger manager, Steve ONeill. Many of the players have been with the team under both regimes.

Rolfe has long been recognized as one of the most intelligent and affable men in baseball. He is a disciple of Joe McCarthy under whom he played and later coached with the New York Yankees.

Rolfe Aloof

Like McCarthy, Rolfe has a certain aloofness. He believes that his station engenders respect rather than familiarity where his players are concerned. He is not a palsy-walsy guy with them.

Observers say that if there ever were any "feeling" among the Tigers, this attitude may have had something to do with it.

The only counterpart of the Tigers' vote-of-confidence meeting was another such session held by the Washington Senators in Detroit in 1947. Their manager Ossie Bluege was under fire and he himself called the meeting and asked for the vote. The only player who didn't give it was Gerry Priddy, now with the Tigers.

"That was something entirely different," recalled Priddy. "I go along with the rest of the guys in thinking Rolfe is a wonderful guy."

Keg 'Names' Fail To Star In ABC

MILWAUKEE—(AP)—There was a real parade of stars in doubles and singles yesterday in the American Bowling Congress tournament, but manufacturing of strikes didn't come up to the reputations of the "name" keglers who took to the alleys.

Members of the Chicago Jockey Coopers, who held the regular team lead at 3,012 from April 9 until the first of three teams passed them up April 16, had a tough time.

High singles count by the Chicagoans was a 620 by Joe Kristof. Kristof also paired with Bill Kenet for 1,238 in doubles, high for the day. Kristof had 599 and Kenet 639.

Kristof wound up with 1,851 in all events, while Ned Day had 1,829, Buddy Bomar 1,669, Robby Robinson 1,756 and Bill Lillard 1,799. The team's total was 8,900.

Billy Sixty, veteran bowler-writer of Milwaukee, grabbed singles laurels with a 690 blast, but it was well out of the top ten in the standings. Sixty had games of 224, 253 and 213.

Ray Schanen, Milwaukee's 215-average Maple spiller, finished with a 607 doubles count and 601 in singles for 1,870 for the nine game route.

But he wasn't high for the day although his total paced the first night doubles and singles squad in ABC history.

Gilbert Smith, Akron, O., fired a 1,882, just six pins out of tenth place, earlier. He added a 614 doubles series and a 643 singles to his 625 in team the night before.

TRIES TO HALT ARGUMENT—Coach Terry Moore of the St. Louis Cardinals tries to lift Eddie Stanky, No. 12, Cardinals manager, away from an argument with umpire Scotty Robb in the third inning of the Cincinnati-St. Louis game at Cincinnati, Ohio. It was reported that during the heat of the argument Robb shoved Stanky away from him and Eddie promptly returned the shove. The rhubarb started when Solly Hemus was called out on strikes. Both men were ejected from the game. (NEA Telephoto)

MSC Is Set For Big Ten Opener

EAST LANSING— (AP) —Michigan State enters the Big Ten baseball race with three games in two days here this weekend.

The Spartans will play a single game against Ohio State Friday and meet Illinois in a double-header Saturday afternoon.

Don Quayle, Oxford, Mich., junior is due to get the starting assignment against Ohio State, the Big Ten baseball champion last year. Quayle won three and lost none in the MSC spring training tour.

Bob Dangl of Grand Rapids, Roger Howard of Johnstown, Pa., or Bob Carlson of Jamestown, N. Y., are the top prospects for Saturday's pitching assignment.

On the basis of the southern trip, the Spartans will open their season with plenty of good pitching but weak in hitting.

The team batting average on the southern trip was a low .253. Only centerfielder Jack Risch managed to bat above the .300 mark.

MSC was scheduled to open its season against Wayne at Detroit Tuesday but rain forced a postponement.

Max Zaslifsky, one of the top basketball players in professional ranks, was only a substitute on the St. John's college cage team.

Girls Entertained By Singing Boys

Boys of the Third Grade Singing Club entertained the girls at the regular meeting this week by presenting an original schoolroom scene entitled "Mrs. Dinkle's Nightingales."

Mrs. Dinkle had her pupils sing "America" and "Snowball" together. The girls enjoyed the program very much. A short business meeting followed the program.

Boys taking part included the following:

Willie Fink—an efficient teacher named Mrs. Dinkle who was smartly dressed in a black dress, mop wig, specs and hat. She was appreciated by her class until she volunteered to sing the chorus of "Sparrow in the Treetop."

Tom Hite as Oliver, fat boy of the class who sang "Little Ducky Duddle" in a bass voice.

Michael Hammond as Angeline was dressed as a typical school girl in skirt and blouse. Angeline sang Home on the Range in a fine soprano voice. Dennis Wilbee as Priscilla liked to make a good impression on Mrs. Dinkle. Priscilla was dressed smartly in dress and bonnet. She sang "Sweetly Sings the Donkey."

John Hagman as Jonathan was the very bashful boy of the class. With his hands over his mouth he sang "Workin' on the Railroad."

James Schram as Snowball was a mischievous negro boy and sang "Shortnin' Bread."

City Briefs

Miss Jackie Bray visited over the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Bray, and attended the wedding of Miss Joan Gallagher and William Lehman which took place on Saturday at Ishpeming. Miss Stella Stang, who was maid of honor at the wedding, also spent the weekend at the Bray home.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Lundmark, son Charles and daughter, Mrs. Peter DeMay and niece, Joan Oathoudt left this morning for Kokomo, Ind., where they will attend the wedding of their son John and Miss Joy Graham, which is taking place on Saturday. John Lundmark arrived from Sun Valley on Monday evening to spend a few days at his parental home and accompany his parents to Indiana.

Do Not Plan Routing Highways Over Bluff

A letter from the Michigan State Highway Department to Rev. Theopril Hoffmann, secretary of the Gladstone Chamber of Commerce, received here today allays any fears that plans are being made to run the main highways over the bluff and by-pass Gladstone.

A rumor to this effect has been circulated here recently. The letter written by C. A. Weber, road engineer, Michigan State Highway Department, reads:

Gentlemen:

"Your letter of April 9 to Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler has been referred to this office for reply.

"We note that you have heard rumors that this department is contemplating the rerouting of US-2 and US-31 as to by-pass the City of Gladstone.

"You are correct in assuming that this is a rumor, because we have no plans for by-passing your City with this highway and have made no studies to determine the feasibility of such a plan."

Yours truly,

Soren Johnson, member of the firm of Johnson Bros. Oil Co., who operate a bulk plant and service station in Gladstone, expressed concern over the rumor at the Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday evening and pointed out the possibility of loss in business if this was to occur.

Rep. Einar Erlandsen, who was present, said that he had been in the office of Commissioner Charles Ziegler sometime ago and at that time he was advised plans were being made for a 4-lane highway between the two cities.

What In The World?

By L. Earle Davidson

PARIS, France — When we checked out of the Grand Hotel and were getting our luggage together before taking the bus out to Le Bourget airfield, the man at the desk asked me when I would be coming back. I told him that it had taken quite a few years for me to get around to making my first visit and that, at the moment, I had no plans for returning. "You will," he said smilingly. "Nobody ever visits Paris just once."

Somehow or other, I think he's right. There's something about this town that makes you want to adopt it as your second home within a few days after your arrival.

Ever since I was a kid, I've dreamed about coming to Europe, and always Paris has been the focal point of the dream. Now I know why. It's different from any other big city in the world.

Other cities may be beautiful. Other cities may be gay. Other cities may be romantic. But Paris! Here's a city that's all three—beautiful, gay, and romantic. It's a tonic. It lifts you up. It's not just a city. It's a state of mind.

* * *

THE CHAMPS ELYSEES — Along with Broadway and Fifth Avenue, in New York, one of the best known streets in the world is the Champs Elysees in Paris. We received our introduction to this famous boulevard while taking some movies at the Place de la Concorde, a square so beautiful that it is difficult to believe it has been the center of so much violence in the history of Paris.

You can still see the places where bullets glanced off statutes and concrete railings over the Seine during the fight for liberation in 1944. Although Concorde means agreement in French, this great square has experienced little in its turbulent history to bear out that meaning. For it was here that, in 1770, something like 1,500 Parisians were killed and twice that number injured in a panic caused by the discharge of rockets announcing the marriage of King Louis XVI to Marie Antoinette. And ironically enough, it was in this same square that Louis XVI and his queen were the first to be guillotined during the French Revolution. During the following two years almost 3,000 heads rolled in the Place de la Concorde in the name of freedom. And during the Stavisky scandal, which rocked France back in 1934, it was here that thousands rioted when police prevented their march on the Chamber of Deputies across the Seine.

The Place de la Concorde is at the lower end of the Champs Elysees. So it was from there that we started our trip up the world famour thoroughfare. After passing Rond-Pont, where the flower beds were beginning to show some signs of spring, we entered the shopping section of the Champs Elysees. In addition to the theaters and shops are a number of well known cafes, such as Fouquet's famous restaurant, the Select, Le Triomphe, and Colisee.

We paused at the Arc de Triomphe, Napoleon's great monument to himself, which is set in the middle of a great star, from which radiate a dozen of the most beautiful boulevards in Paris. At the base of the arch is the tomb of the Unknown Soldier with its ever-burning flame.

* * *

POETRY, MUSIC, AND PARIS —When you walk around downtown Paris, one of two well known tunes keep buzzing in your head. It is either "An American in Paris" or "The Last Time I Saw Paris." The honking of the taxi horns, the beauty and gaiety, all contribute to setting in motion within your mind the poetry and muisc of one or the other of those famous tunes.

Walking seems to be a popular divertissment in Paris. Everybody does it. No other city I have ever been in offers such splendid opportunities for sight-seeing while leisurely strolling.

The Eiffel Tower, the Hotel des Invalides, which houses Napoleon's tomb; the Opera, built by the order of Napoleon and where gala performances are still among the highlights of the social season; the churches, of which world-famous Notre Dame gives you an opportunity to overlook Paris and the Seine from its towers; Montmarte, the little village that has defied time in the midst of Paris; the Louvre, a tremendous building housing 16 miles of galleries. All these and a thousand and one other sights are yours on any beautiful day when you feel the urge to learn more about this international city.

* * *

SOMEDAY, MAYBE — There may come a time, as the hotel clerk swears, there will, when the urge to see Paris again overcomes me and I am compelled to return. All of us on this tour would like to come back and learn more about this intensely interesting and intriguing city.

Personally, I have a yen to be adopted by one of those sidewalks cafes where, over a glass of wine or a cup of coffee, you can sit all afternoon in the sun and philosophize while the rest of the world goes by.
